

First Responder Interviews for Qualitative Analysis:

Node	Codes that align for Firefighters/EMS
Traumatic Runs	Seeing Death, Children, Murder, Uncertainty of calls, fear of blood borne pathogens
Worker Physical Safety	Fear of blood borne pathogen, feeling of being physically capable
Worker Psychological Safety
Competence & Confidence
Interpersonal Communications	Family, co-workers, supervisors, public, patients
Group Dynamics	Trust in partners, view of co-workers as family, teamwork
Culture	Generation differences, administrative pushback, “machoism”, perception/stigma of mental weakness
Politics and Public Relations and Image	COVID-19, political beliefs,
Administration and Leadership factors	Administrative transparency, administrative structure, communication, leadership style, trust in leadership, leadership out of touch with front liners
Constant Surveillance and Evaluation	constant performance evaluation
Hypervigilance	public image
Rumination	Feeling the need to be in control,
Healthy Coping Mechanisms	Debriefing, physical exercise, spiritual belonging, healthy nutrition, counseling, pre-scribed medication, leveraging available wellness resources, humor, self-management, self-care, maintaining positive relationships, social support, outside of work activities,
Unhealthy Coping Mechanisms	Alcohol, callousness, poor nutrition, humor, anger, not communicating with family,
Staffing Considerations	Staffing shortage, role swaps, less qualified background
Isolation
Wellness Education	Awareness of mental health, science of wellness, learned knowledge, mandatory post traumatic run debriefing
Current Resources offered at Work	Physical therapy, yoga sessions, post-traumatic run debriefing, wellness center, EAP, voluntary vs. required resources,
Desired resources offered at work	Leader supported resource, facilitated from within, readily available for an individual and or group, “bite-sized” info or exercises, multiple day and time opportunities, credible source that delivers resource, resources for family

Nature of the job	Job security, uncertainty in calls, uncertainty in schedule, workload, limited downtime between calls, uncertainty of what your day will look like, hypervigilance
Work issues effecting personal life	Divorce, anger management,
Physical pain related to work	Back problems, muscular skeletal pain, injuries on the job, tinnitus, Cardiac problems
Mental health issues related to work	Anxiety, depression
Facilitators to wellness program success	Internal representative, simple and repeatable practices, flexible timing, being educated on the science behind it, connection to further resources, mindset change surrounding wellness