

Interviewer: Okay, all good again. Good evening, [Name] and thank you so much for participating in this research project. Now let's start with a few demographics. So, [Participant's Name], how old are you?

Speaker: I am [Participant's Name], I am [20-25] years old, turned [20-25] this [Month]. So.

Interviewer: Belated, very belated, very belated.

Speaker: I don't know when your birthday is but belated too.

Interviewer: [Month].

Speaker: Oh, nice. God [21-25]. Let's go.

Interviewer: Okay. So, how long have you been together with your partner, with [Partner's Name]?

Speaker: Approaching [6-10] years. So, [6-10] years and [6-10] months, I think. since [Date] kami naging together.

Speaker: So, yeah, pretty long. Pretty damn strong.

Speaker: And over the years, you hear a lot of, matetesting talaga yung relationship niyo, [1-5] years, [1-5] years and then they keep going on, [6-10] years, [6-10] years, [11-15] years. Ano ba talaga?

Speaker: Yeah, screw them. These are some love advice. But yeah, that long.

Interviewer: Okay, so do you currently have any children?

Speaker: Nah. Pwede dogs? No children at the moment.

Interviewer: Okay, so who lives in the household or what's your current household setup?

Speaker: Okay, household setup. At the moment, I live here in [City A] with my family.

Speaker: [City A]. Living with my family here, my brother's over there. He's gaming right now, so you might hear some cursing.

Interviewer: Okay. Gets.

Speaker: My parents are downstairs. I got [1-5] beautiful dogs, who I adore so much. So yeah, pretty great home setup here.

Interviewer: Okay. How about [Partner's Name]? What's her household setup?

Speaker: Household setup. [Partner's Name] is currently living with her [1-5] sisters, the boyfriend, no, it's the husband na pala of the older sister and the children of the single mom second sister.

Speaker: Yeah, so yeah.

Interviewer: Okay, I see. Now, what's your main source of income and your current job?

Speaker: [Occupation] for [department]. role ko dun ay [occupation], Oh I wish, it's [occupation]. Yeah, [occupation].

Interviewer: Okay. Now, how would you like us to address your partner in this interview? So by name or would you like?

Speaker: Yeah, just [Participant's Name] is good.

Interviewer: Okay

Interviewer: Now, can you tell me about your love story?

[Portion Redacted]

Interviewer: Okay. Now, for sure, you also have friends who are also in a relationship. How would you compare the quality of your relationship with [Partner's Name] to those of your friends?

Speaker: Okay. Uh, we do not point fingers. Me and [Partner's Name], we don't blame each other. And if there is a mistake that one has made, we point it out. Like we tell each other, but at the same time, if I'm going to tell her what she, what she's been doing that makes me feel hurt, I'm going to say my side, my mistakes as well. Like, hey, I'm sorry to, I have been a bit of an asshole. So I'll be like that. And then she's like, no, no, it's okay. And then we end up forgiving each other. And there's this one rule that we have in our relationship that I don't see a lot of the other couples use, which is to, you never sleep a fight, you know.

Interviewer: Yeah.

Speaker: You never go to bed in a bad mood with your significant other because that's not going to fix everything. In fact, you're going to wake up thinking about it. You're like crap. So we've been doing that for seven years and it's worked out. Pretty cool. Yeah, pretty cool. Pretty cool.

Interviewer: Yeah. Okay. So how about the quality, the relationship quality of your relationship with those of your friends. Or to those of your friends.

Speaker: Quality. Okay. I don't know. I don't want to sound like a superior guy or something.

Interviewer: Yeah. No judgment.

Speaker: All right. Me and [Partner's Name]'s level of relationship is so much. Ahhhh

Interviewer: No, no, no, it's okay.

Speaker: I'm going to put this in a very mature way. Our, the way we handle a relationship is much more mature. Although we are not perfect. There are still some petty things now that's where the relationship is. It's much more mature in handling the rough things in life. So yeah, in terms of quality, ours is better. Definitely let's go. That's the best way I could put it.

Interviewer: Okay. Do you also had some romantic partners in the past?

Speaker: Just crushes. Let's see. High school. Had a crush. Didn't confess because I was a sheepish or a torpe. My girl best friend fell in love with me, but I was not feeling the same way. And then I had another friend who was a girl. But that one was like, we didn't become us, but there was also no label.

Speaker: We did try, but no. She wasn't into it. She's the one I confessed to like before. Yeah, she really wasn't seeing it in the same way as I was. But yeah, that was pretty much my romantic life prior to me.

Interviewer: Okay, since we don't have much other point of comparison, dun nalang yung mga previous romantic relationship issue. How would you compare the quality of your relationship with [Partner's Name] to those of your previous relationship?

Speaker: Okay. Let's see. I would say [Partner's Name] was definitely more open, more accepting of who I was. Right? I wasn't exactly the smartest guy. Not the strongest. Right now I'm the strongest though. Strongest when you'll interview in this gosh darn research.

Speaker: I was just kidding. Yeah, the most mature one and the most emotionally evoking one, I'd say. I mean, we wouldn't be in the six years if it weren't like that, you know.

Interviewer: Yeah. Okay. So we're talking about relationship quality for you. What makes a relationship high quality?

Speaker: What makes a relationship high quality? Life's like an adventure with that person, you know. It doesn't matter what you do if you're together. Hey, that's probably the best time in the world then. Like, dude, I can stay home for like ever.

Speaker: As long as I'm with her, like I don't gotta go out. I actually feel this is nice. Then I end up brain dead and sleep because she's, she's there and I feel comfortable. I feel complete. Yeah. I would say that's quality right there. It's when no matter where you are in life, that person is the right there for you and she's making you feel cozy.

Speaker: Yeah. She's like a mobile home. There we go. You know, you know that old phrase, home is where love is.

Interviewer: Yeah. Familiar.

Speaker: Feels like home where she's around.

Interviewer: Feels like home

Interviewer: Okay. How about low quality? What makes a relationship low quality?

Speaker: Low quality. I guess when you're only chasing that person for a specific quality, you know, for instance, this is going to sound objective. But you know that there are dudes who will date a woman for a specific part of her body or her face.

Interviewer: Yeah.

Speaker: Yeah. Why aren't you breaking up with her? Oh, okay. She's hot as fuck. That. That is her quality right there. So, nah, I don't want that in life, man.

Interviewer: Okay. So that's, that's for you as a low, that makes a relationship low quality. Now.

Speaker: Chasing for one specific aspect and not for the person.

Interviewer: Now, what are the most important things for you in a relationship?

Speaker: Understanding. Definitely. That's the top quality I found within [Partner's Name]. She was super understanding, right? Maturity.

Speaker: What is the opposite of insecurity? Whatever that is, the opposite of insecurity. There we go. Like, yeah, you feel satisfied. Those are the top ones. And of course, hey, true love. You know, yeah, that's it.

Interviewer: Yeah

Speaker: What is the opposite of insecurity? Whatever that is, the opposite of insecurity. There we go. Like, yeah, you feel satisfied. Those are the top ones. And of course, hey, true love. You know, yeah, that's it.

Interviewer: Yeah. Okay. So understanding maturity, the opposite of insecurity.

Speaker: Yeah. Because if someone's insecure, trust me, that relationship is going to go on a downward trend. Yeah. Trust me on that one.

Interviewer: And true love. Now, speaking of love, for you, what is love? Medyo slambook, pero yun, What is love?

Speaker: Naririnig ko na mga tanungan to nung high school ah, uhm wait lang, What is love? So the perspective of the busiest man in the world, the busiest man will stop what he's doing just to be together with the person he loves. In the perspective of the laziest man, he or she will work hard for the first time just. For that one person.

Speaker: Basically, you have a personality, but you're going to make compromises just for the person you care about. Okay. The weakest man will try to be the strongest. I'm sorry if you can hear the dogs.

Interviewer: It's okay

Speaker: The weakest man will try to be the strongest just for that one person that he loves or she loves. That's love right there. It is what it is. It's like magic. You know, it's like, it's the most powerful force in the world. You know, as cheesy as it is, it's true.

Interviewer: Yeah

Speaker: Yeah. I mean, you're going to apply that to not just a person, even in passion. I love [hobby]. Nothing can stop me from working hard to get there. The same goes for [Partner's Name]. I love [Partner's Name]. Ah, got me. Kasi may love songs ako pinapatunog sa likod, to get me in the mood.

Interviewer: Wow

Speaker: Oh, okay. So ayun. That's love.

Speaker: You'll do anything or everything, even if it's not who you are, just for that thing you love or person you love. Yeah. That's love right there.

Interviewer: Yeah. That's an interesting way to describe or define love. First time I've ever seen someone like the busiest man will stop anything they do. It's very cute.

Speaker: Nice. Quote me on that.

Interviewer: Yeah, I'll quote you on that.

Speaker: Thank you. Thank you.

Interviewer: Now, you also mentioned that love, true love is the most important thing in a relationship, but how important is it in a relationship?

Speaker: All right. Faking love anyways, it's only going to get you so far. Let's say you can act so well, but it will leak and it will kill you inside if you do something that you don't really love. Let's say, okay, I did pretend to love playing music. I used to play guitar, right? I didn't really care for it much.

Speaker: Anyway, I tried convincing myself. I tried tricking myself that I love playing music, but I was more of a listener. Playing music didn't really stick with me. I was like, all right, I'm burnt out. I'm done.

Speaker: So eventually, your real feelings are going to leak out. If you love something, that shit is, it keeps going forever. Even if it's the most exhausting time in the world or tedious, you're going to keep doing it.

Speaker: Even if you take a break from that one thing you love, you're going to do it again anyway. The next day, the next hour, that's love right there.

Interviewer: That's cute.

Speaker: That's my answer. Yun ang cute.

Interviewer: Hi, doggy.

Speaker: Anyway, yeah, that's my answer for that one.

Interviewer: Okay. Now, how do you know that your partner loves you? How do you know that [Partner's Name] loves you?

Speaker: Okay. How can I explain that one? That was a bit hard for me because I haven't had any legit relationships prior to [Partner's Name]. It's hard to compare apples to apples, right?

Interviewer: Yeah.

Speaker: Yeah. So I'm just going to define it by how I felt around [Partner's Name], how she loves me, right? I know she loves me because I can be the cringiest thing or be the ugliest in the room or be the biggest a-hole and I know she's going to stick around. But I guess there's also trust, you know?

Interviewer: Yeah.

Speaker: She's not going to ask for the password in my phone. You know that old thing in relationships? Wait, like patingin nga phone mo. She's not so suspect all the time. She's got my drip. She doesn't check in things. And that's there's a sign of trust.

Speaker: Kasi, yun yung lagi kong naririnig sa mga kaibigan ko. "Lagi niya hinihingi yung ano ko, wala naman ako ka-chat". Yung mga ganun. That goes for both ways. My friends that are girls and my friends that are guys. Yeah, I had trust also as a huge foundation. So I guess that's how I felt true love with [Partner's Name] is that she accepts me for who I am and the lowest of lows and the highest of highs and the trust she gives me.

Speaker: Yeah, if this is in love, I don't know what it is. So that's love right there.

Interviewer: That's cute. Now, how about whether the relationship is good for you? Would you say that the relationship is good for you?

Speaker: Definitely. No questions asked. All right, let's see. I've been to places that I don't think I'll ever go to if it weren't for [Partner's Name]. I've eaten food that I'm just stating these objective ones first. I've been to I've eaten different foods because I mean I've been to different places met different people experienced many things that got pushed to do things that are productive for my life.

Speaker: Basically, that person comforts you. And at the same time that person pushes you. Yeah. What was the question again? I forgot I was in the train of thought.

Interviewer: Would you say that the relationship is good for you?

Speaker: Yeah, yeah, yeah, the relationship is super good for me. As I said, that answer also quality wise. I don't know. I feel more satisfied with my love life with her around. I'm good. I am. I'm good. I'm not looking for anything else. Just adventure with her now.

Interviewer: Cute. Now, how about challenges? What would you say are challenges in your relationship? What is your previous challenges, current or future one?

Speaker: Challenges. Perspectives, I guess. I guess it's how we perceive things. Those are right now. That's our biggest challenge. Well, I think I'm going to take a guess, but I'm going to guess [Partner's Name] said communication is a she really. That's her thing right now. It's communication, but it's just so hard with all the graveyard shifts trying to stay awake and all having to work out after waking up. So there's that communication. That was right there.

Speaker: Yeah, perspectives. We do have some differing opinions on things. Di naman yung sa ano ah, ba't si [Name]. No, no, no, I didn't vote for him. I didn't vote for him just so you know. I was [redacted]. There we go. I have a class with differing opinions. I don't know.

Speaker: Ayun, tawag dun. There are things in life to me are easy to handle, but to her it's like difficult. Ganito kasi yan, ganyan, sabi niya. And I'm like, oh my God, di lahat parehas with the way we're dealing with things.

Speaker: That's the challenge right there.

Interviewer: Now, do you and [Partner's Name] fight as well?

Speaker: Excuse me?

Interviewer: Do you and [Partner's Name] fight? Do you and your partner fight?

Speaker: Yeah, I mean, that's what happens when you're with someone for so long. There's eventually going to be a fight. Sometimes it can range from petty things like you're not talking to me recently or a big deal of things like this is how I'm feeling at the moment. Please understand that stuff that comes out of romantic movies. But like I said, we do not go to bed without talking it out first.

Speaker: So whether it's a big deal or a small fight, we got to talk it anyway before we sleep that way. We end in good terms, have good nights and sweet dreams.

Interviewer: Now, you mentioned that it's all about ranging from petty things to the big one. But how do you resolve this fight? So you mentioned that you don't sleep, you don't go to bed or you don't go to sleep without fixing it. But how do you resolve it?

Speaker: So we talk it out before we go to bed. And remember what I said earlier that we don't point fingers. And if we do want to point out each other's mistakes, we also have to acknowledge our mistakes. So that's how the conversation goes. And then we ended with laughter and such. So that's how we deal with the fights.

Interviewer: But how long does this fight last before we resolve it? So is it resolved in a matter of seconds or it takes hours?

Speaker: Oh no, it's in a phone call that would take around one to two hours. But that's not counting the pence of feelings for negativity that happens before the fight. Obviously when you're feeling something and you don't just say it out loud, you try to keep it in first. And then it builds up and then the fight happens and then you resolve it. That's it.

Speaker: So usually about we just give it a call and the range is around one to two hours conversation about how we're going to deal with things and how we're going to change and open up things and stuff.

Interviewer: Okay, now aside from this, like talking it out and then you're solving it. What are other ways that you do or what are other ways that you both do to maintain the relationship?

Speaker: Understanding each other, being open to each other's interests and ideals. So we fight about ideals after that. We kind of share each other's ideals after that. Yeah, that's pretty much it except it ranges from small things to big things.

Interviewer: So understanding each other, Hello po

Speaker: Hello daw ma, nakita ka ma

Interviewer: Okay, now let's talk about change. Did the relationship change you?

Speaker: Certainly, maybe more confident, which is a damn good thing. It also gave me a bit of arrogance. That couple's like that because they're this and that. I'm sure they've done that. Made me more secure, a lot less fearful.

Speaker: The insecurity is gone. Like, I'm going to be single for [26-30] years, that mentality is gone. Now I know my worth much more. So it definitely changed me for the better. And it tested out emotional and mental qualities.

Interviewer: Okay, that's good. How about [Partner's Name]? Did they change during the relationship?

Speaker: [Partner's Name], I'd say yeah. We used to have this thing that we do back then in college, where we would, every year, we would write about the qualities that each other saw in each other and what changed, but we don't do that anymore.

Interviewer: What? She's more what now? independent?

Speaker: Yeah, she's much more independent now. Yeah, she's much more independent now. She's also mentally tougher compared to last time. What else? She's also much more mushy. She used to be a lot less mushy back then. Now she's much more mushy, much more open.

Interviewer: Okay, that's good. Now, how about safety? Do you feel safe in the relationship?

Speaker: Yeah, I do. I thought you were going to say it like safe in her presence physically.

Interviewer: Yeah, depending on how you interpret it. How or in what way?

Speaker: You know, there was this research, like when you're with the right person or when you're with someone you love romantically, the reason you fall asleep fast is because you're much more cozy. I guess that feeling of safeness and satisfaction being with that particular person also affects how you live your everyday life.

Speaker: When I'm around [Partner's Name], I get really sleepy because it becomes so relaxing. So [Partner's Name]'s like, her sleep sucks at home. She sleeps around four to five hours. Get more sleep. But when we are together, her sleep can range up to 10 to 12 hours. So I call it the [Partner's Name] sleep.

Speaker: See, that research is legit. It was an [Nationality] research, but I didn't really remember the universe. It was pretty cool. It was a pretty cool fact.

Interviewer: 10 to 12 hours, times two sa usual.

Speaker: Yeah, our inside joke is that I call it the [Partner's Name] sleep. Because her sleep can get to 10 to 12 hours. I once cooked her breakfast in [City]. It was really delicious. So I can't wait for her to wake up. Para matikman niyo yung niluto kong almusal pero she woke up in two hours.

Speaker: I was like, uy gising na, yung almusal mo lumalamig na, cause you know malamig sa [City]. So yeah. Sorry about that.

Interviewer: It really is legit that you feel much more comfortable. Everyday life is much more relaxed when you're with the right person. So yeah, feel safe at all.

Speaker: Okay, now for the next question, I'll be sharing my screen in the lab.

Interviewer: Yeah, sure, sure.

Speaker: Dapat yung jowa mo ininterview mo rin.

Interviewer: Hmm? I can't. I can't. I can't.

Speaker: Okay, okay.

Interviewer: Now, I'll be showing you two statements. All you have to do is rate your agreement to this statement.

Interviewer: All right. Now for the first one, my partner usually really listens to me on a scale of one as not at all true to nine as completely true. How would you rate her?

Speaker: Nine. Yeah, like she's a great listener.

Interviewer: Mm-hmm. Okay.

Speaker: That's a nine. What'd she rate me? Tell me.

Speaker: No, no, no, no. Just kidding. Alright, confidentiality.

Interviewer: Yeah. Okay. For the second.

Speaker: My partner usually is responsible for my needs. I'd say eight. Yeah, eight. Okay. That's above very true.

Interviewer: Mm-hmm. Okay, so for the first statement, you rated nine.

Speaker: Yeah.

Interviewer: My partner usually really listens to me. So very true. Why nine?

Speaker: I don't know. Like I said, we resolved every fight fast. That's because she listens and I listen. So hands down, whenever I want to tell or say something, her ears get perked up like, okay, and she can sit, stay quiet. She's not going to say anything. She just listens. So that's a perfect listener, you know, perfect listener. She even listens to my nerdy ramblings. So yeah.

Interviewer: That's pretty cool.

Speaker: Amazing listener.

Interviewer: Thank you. Okay. How about for the second statement, you rated eight, or my partner usually is responsive to my needs?

Speaker: Hmm. Yeah. Almost perfect. Almost perfect. Mm-hmm. Uh, physical side, not so much, but.

Interviewer: Uh-huh. Okay.

Speaker: Yeah, other than that, that's not a big deal. So it's an eight. Okay. But it might as well make it a nine. It's not that big a deal anyway.

Interviewer: Mm-hmm. So final rating.

Speaker: Yeah, I'm going to get a nine. Nine.

Interviewer: Okay.

Speaker: Yep. That's a nine.

Interviewer: So, okay. Moving on to the next question. Now, I hope you don't mind if I ask and feel free if this is too sensitive for you to answer or to share. But we also want to know more about your physical intimacy as a couple. Now, this says, how often do you have sex?

Speaker: Uh, depends really.

Interviewer: Mm-hmm.

Speaker: When we meet. Wait, my brother's here, so it's kinda hard but. Hold on. Hold on. Let me try to find a way to elaborate.

Interviewer: Oh, you can chat. Also.

Speaker: All right.

Interviewer: Or. Sige sige.

Speaker: Let me try. Let me try. All right.

Speaker: But.

Speaker: Together at one point.

Interviewer: Mm-hmm.

Speaker: Yeah. Yeah, that's about it.

Interviewer: Okay.

Speaker: I got to answer that question.

Interviewer: Okay, so there was a time you lived together before COVID.

Speaker: Yeah.

Interviewer: Live together in your house? In your house?

Speaker: Oh, okay. Well, we used to work in [City] city doon sa [Location]. Near the [location], right?

Interviewer: Uh-huh

Speaker: So we had to like find a dorm, excuse me. Yeah, that's when we lived together, slept in the same bed. Yeah, the dorm near our workplace in [City].

Interviewer: So you're in a dormitory together?

Speaker: Yeah.

Interviewer: Okay. But recently, not much.

Speaker: We're work from home. We live in each other's family's homes, so

Interviewer: Mm-hmm. Okay. But in general, how satisfied are you with your sex life?

Speaker: Let's see. [Redacted].

Interviewer: Uh-huh. Uh-huh.

Speaker: But yeah, right now, not that bad. You know, not that bad, actually. So much better than what it was back then, for sure. The mistakes have been rectified, and right now, it is not bad at all. So yeah, it's pretty cool.

Interviewer: Okay, that's good.

Speaker: Yeah.

Interviewer: Okay, we're nearing the end of our interview, and I'll be sharing my screen once again.

Speaker: Okay. Nakaktuwa, yung mga may rating rating,.

Interviewer: Oh. Okay. So you have three things this time. In general, how satisfied are you with your relationship?

Speaker: Completely satisfied.

Interviewer: Completely satisfied, okay. And you answered completely satisfied, eto rating ulit.

Interviewer: Okay. How would you rate your satisfaction with your relationship on a scale of zero as not at all satisfied, to 10 as completely satisfied?

Speaker: I go for 10.

Interviewer: 10, so perfect 10.

Interviewer: Okay. Why 10?

Speaker: I don't know, I'm good. Like, who knows, I was thinking of like putting a ring on it. When the moment we have a stable job, a stable finance, not job, stable finance, right now finances are the, you know, [Country] and inflation, so not fun.

Speaker: And I feel I got, I'm helping my family out right now, so marriage is quite far for now financially, so but I am thinking about it though.

Interviewer: That's cute.

Speaker: Yeah, yeah.

Interviewer: Okay. Sure. Na-excite ako. But. also, can I ask, pang-ilan ka sa magkakapatid? Are you the breadwinner or?

Speaker: Yeah, breadwinner.

Speaker: Eldest. [1-5] lang kami eh

Interviewer: Okay, I see. So, helping family parin yung priorities.

Speaker: Yeah, tinutulungan ko talaga sila ngayon.

Interviewer: Okay. I see. Now, ten, because they're very completely satisfied.

Speaker: Yep, that's right.

Interviewer: Okay, so now we're close. We're also wrapping up this interview, and I would like to summarize what we have discussed over the past hour.

Speaker: Okay.

Interviewer: Now, I'll be summarizing it, and feel free to button in if you want to correct something, or if you want to add more.

Speaker: Okay. Sige sige.

Interviewer: Now, I'll be summarizing it, and feel free to butt in if you want to correct something, or if you want to add more.

Speaker: Okay. Yeah.

Interviewer: Okay, now let's start with demographics.

Interviewer: You're [21-25] years old, and you're currently in a [-10]-month, I mean, [6-10] years, [6-10] months, rather. [6-10] years, [6-10] months. [6-10] months relationship, approaching [6-10]. No children, and your household setup is, you're both currently living with your family. And then your current job is a [occupation], [occupation] to be specific.

[Portion Redacted].

Interviewer: And the level of relationship, the way you handle things, especially the rough ones, is much more mature. And as you mentioned, ours is much better, definitely.

Speaker: Saya pala nito, nadodocument yung love life ko. It's in writing now, Sa [University] pa, let's go.

Interviewer: Okay, now for your, now if you compare your quality in your relationship to those of previous relationships, [Partner's Name] is more accepting and more open to who you are. And the high quality for you in your relationship, if you feel comfortable, you feel safe, and you feel at home.

Interviewer: And then low quality is if the relationship or that person is only chasing someone for a specific quality or a characteristic.

Interviewer: Now, the most important thing for you in a relationship is understanding maturity and true love.

Speaker: Yeah. Mm-hmm.

Interviewer: Now, speaking of love, yeah, my favorite part, the description of love.

Speaker: Okay.

Interviewer: Okay, so from the perspective of the busiest man in the world, they will stop anything that they're doing for that person. The perspective of the laziest man, they'll work hard for the first time for that person. So, make them compromise. So, make them compromise for one person when they're in love.

Speaker: Yup.

Interviewer: And then, how important is love in a relationship? Taking love won't get you too far. And when you love something, when you love someone, it will truly show in the relationship. And you know that [Partner's Name] loves you because of how you feel around her. So, she accepts you lowest of lows, high of high, and trust as well.

Speaker: Mm-hmm.

Interviewer: It's a huge foundation for you both. Now, the relationship is good for you. Quality-wise, you're more satisfied with her around, you love life around, you met different people, you had a lot of new experiences, been to places, been to new places because of [Partner's Name].

Interviewer: Now, in terms of challenges, in terms of challenges, perspective is one, how you perceive things. So, there are different opinions and perspectives. And as well as communication.

Interviewer: And then, fights also happen. It can range from the petty ones to the big ones, but you resolve it by talking it out, not pointing fingers, acknowledging your mistakes, and your shortcomings.

Interviewer: Usually, a phone call that lasts for around one to two hours. And then, aside from this, you also understand each other and you share each other's ideals to maintain the relationship.

Interviewer: Now, in terms of change, you're more confident.

Speaker: Mm-hmm.

Interviewer: And you're more confident as a person, and the relationship made you feel more secure, insecurities are gone, and you know, you risk much more. And as for [Partner's Name], you haven't really kept track of it, but you notice that she's more independent, she's mentally tougher, and she's more open.

Speaker: Yes.

Interviewer: And you also feel safe in the relationship because you feel cozy. So, when you're with someone, you're feeling sleepy.

Speaker: Yes, that's true. That's legit. Kahit sa [Location] when I'm with [Partner's Name]. Come on, come on. Puyat ako lagi, sorry. That's it.

Interviewer: Ang cute.

Interviewer: Now, in my two statements, you rated nine.

Speaker: Mm-hmm.

Interviewer: In the first one, my partner usually really listens to me because she's a great listener, and your fights resolve faster because she listens and you listen as well.

Interviewer: And in terms of responsiveness to your needs, you rated nine as well, although your physical side not so much, but it's not a big deal in general.

Interviewer: Now, in terms of your physical intimacy, it depends, and then you do sex when you have private times, and then, not much now, because you're both working from home and you're both living with your family.

Speaker: Yeah. But...

Interviewer: Soon. Soon naman yan.

Interviewer: Okay. Now, in general, you're more satisfied with your sex life compared to how it was before, because there was a time before when [Partner's Name] was completely avoiding it. But now, much better than what it was before, as you mentioned.

Speaker: Mm-hmm. Yes.

Interviewer: Now, in general, you're completely satisfied with the relationship because despite everything, all good.

Speaker: Yeah. All good.

Interviewer: Okay. So, that's it, do you have anything to add or correct to what I mentioned?

Speaker: Nope. That was a pretty awesome job. Okay. Grabe ang galing niyo po. You're going to do great to research.

Interviewer: Thank you so much.

Speaker: If I may ask, how many couples did you interview?

Interviewer: I interviewed, I think around...

Interviewer: Wait a minute. I haven't kept track of it. But maybe five. Maybe five already. So, that's ten persons.

Speaker: Okay. Do you want me to refer to people or goods na kayo?

Interviewer: Okay. I'll just summarize and then provide you some data sharing options.

Speaker: Yeah, sure.

Interviewer: So, of course, as a research project, we want to be ethically transparent. And I'd like you to know there are two possible data sharing options.

Interviewer: So, option one, the transcript portion can be shared, one of which can be identified to you. So, the de-identified transcript can also be read by other researchers.

Interviewer: Now, option number two, if you're a bit bolder, you can share the whole transcript pr removed. In this case, remove the sensitive or any identifying details about you.

Interviewer: In this option, there is a very, very minimal chance that someone who knows you might piece together the information or trace it back to you. But that would require a lot of effort on their end because that would need them to read the whole paper or review the appendices.

Interviewer: Although, again, no sensitive information will be shared. So, of these two data sharing options, which are your most comfortable with?

Speaker: Okay. For this one, what did [Partner's Name] choose?

Interviewer: She chose option one.

Speaker: Then I'll go for option one as well. And then there's her side of the story, yeah, we'll go for the same option as hers then Interviewer: Okay. There we go.

Interviewer: Okay. Now, I would also like you to know that this research project is not only done in the Philippines. It's a multi-county one, so it's also done in Turkey.

Speaker: Wait. Take me there, man.

Interviewer: It's also done in Turkey, Brazil, France, and the United States.

Speaker: Hala, that's amazing

Interviewer: Yes. Yes. From now on, that will be my definition of love.

Speaker: Yay, let's go. Thank you, po.

Interviewer: Okay. Now, for this study to be successful, we'd like to ask one last thing from you.

Speaker: Okay.

Interviewer: Can you recommend two close people in your life as a nominator? So, what would happen is, these two people will be asking them for additional couples we can interview for this research project.

Speaker: Oh, alright.

Interviewer: So, sila yung tatanungan namin ng couples. So, there we go.

Speaker: Okay, alright. What, ngayon na ba? Or, I could just chat.

Interviewer: Pwede ngayon, or pwede rin kay [Partner's Name]. But if you have one, that's better.

Speaker: Kay [Partner's Name] nalang, I gotta talk to [Partner's Name] first also.

Interviewer: Okay, sure. Speaking of, please provide a heads up then so they won't fluff us, or they'd know that we'll be communicating with them about this research project.

Speaker: Sige sige. Damn. Turkey and the USA, huh?

Interviewer: Oh, thank you I'll put off the recording.
