

Redaction Protocols

In deidentifying transcripts, we will be removing personal and sensitive information (or any information that may identify the participant in any way). This information includes (but is not limited to):

- Names (participant's names, children's, family member's, friend's, workmates, etc.)
- Geographical Information (cities, provinces, countries of participants or the people they mention in the interview)
 - If there are recurring geographic information they mention and can be traceable, we can go for [City A], [City B], [City C], etc.
- Educational and work background (schools, universities, companies of participants or the people they mention in the interview)
- Occupational details (job titles, specific roles, income of participants or the people they mention in the interview)
- Dates or time periods (age, relationship length, graduation year, employment dates)
 - For age and relationship length, we'll keep them at five-year increments (e.g., <1, 1-5, 6-10, 11-15, 16-20, 21-25, ...)
 - For year, we'd keep them as [Year]. For specific dates, we can either go for [Month Day] or [Date]
- Relationship details (number of previous relationships of participants or the people they mention in the interview)

How to redact?

- Read through the whole transcript to familiarize yourself with the flow of the conversation.
- Identify any personal/sensitive information (or any information that may identify the participant in any way).
- Replace the personal and sensitive information with common nouns or general categories to describe them.
 - Ex: "Luis goes to work everyday" → "[My partner] goes to work everyday"
 - Ex: "We lived at Quezon City during the first year of our relationship and then we relocated to Quiapo during the fourth year" → "We lived at [City A] during the first year of our relationship and then we relocated to [City B] during the fourth year"
 - Ex: "I graduated college last 2014, but I only got to work in 2016" → "I graduated college last [Year], but I only got to work in [Year]"
 - Ex: "We've been together for 14 years" → "We've been together for [10-15] years"
