

Speaker 1 [00:00:04] Okay. So if you're ready, shall we continue?

Speaker 2 [00:00:07] Okay okay

Speaker 1 [00:00:08] We were talking about the difficulties of the relationship, what happened.

Speaker 2 [00:00:21] Well, the order of issues related to my own life in my relationship. The end of my previous marriage, my children in that process. That process. So there is no difficulty with my partner. I had something about my own process before. Or at the moment, meeting the children, the thing with them. I can't say that kind of difficulty, these are challenges.

Speaker 1 [00:00:56] Do you think you fight with your partner?

Speaker 2 [00:01:04] In the sense of arguing rather than fighting, yes. In that sense, of course we do.

Speaker 1 [00:01:13] So how often do you fight?

Speaker 2 [00:01:19] I mean, because of misunderstandings or overloading concepts with too much meaning. Once or twice a week.

Speaker 1 [00:01:30] And what else do these fights about besides misunderstandings and interpretations?

Speaker 2 [00:01:37] No, I haven't had a technical issue. I mean there is nothing else because of a technical issue. I don't remember so far.

Speaker 1 [00:01:46] So how do you solve these fights?

Speaker 2 [00:01:55] Well, through long repetition of negotiation and discussion.

Speaker 1 [00:02:02] huh So what are the other ways of maintaining your relationship other than a long long discussion?

Speaker 2 [00:02:12] In general or in my relationship?

Speaker 1 [00:02:16] In your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:02:18] Other ways, uh, well, joint activity, also called activity. Joint. I mean joint activities that we can spend together, that we spend together, that we do together. Uh uh.

Speaker 1 [00:02:41] Like spending time together?

Speaker 2 [00:02:44] But you know, spending time together. Like making a nice meal or having a guest or going on a picnic or going for a walk. You know, something in common... meeting at an event.

Speaker 1 [00:02:59] So would you say that this relationship is good for you?

Speaker 2 [00:03:03] Yes.

Speaker 1 [00:03:04] Why? And why?

Speaker 2 [00:03:07] Well, as I explained in the eighth question before, now when it's like this, you know I said 8 out of 10, that's him there, so I think my spiritual satisfaction is at a high level.

Speaker 1 [00:03:23] And can you give a concrete example?

Speaker 2 [00:03:27] Well no, then let me put it like this. So we have the common mind matrix. Emotions, emotionally, spiritually, we can feel each other's pros and cons correctly, address them correctly and find a common road map about them. So.

Speaker 1 [00:03:59] Did this relationship change you?

Speaker 2 [00:04:02] eee Of course.

Speaker 1 [00:04:04] In what way?

Speaker 2 [00:04:06] Uh, now let me put it this way, my husband, I mean my lover, how should I put it, was more organized, I mean, we had character differences. I'm hyperactive, I might be a little impulsive. My husband was the opposite in those matters. You know, I like to take risks. I think fast, act fast. Whether the result is wrong or not is not very important for me. Try a lot, make a lot of mistakes, but keep going. Of course, this can be useful for me, but there are a lot of complications in life. I can say that he showed me that I can live this life without living these complications.

Speaker 1 [00:05:00] So did your partner change during that relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:05:07] Well, let me put it this way. Now he is also yes, his number of experiences has increased.

Speaker 1 [00:05:17] Another Well.

Speaker 2 [00:05:20] What else?

Speaker 1 [00:05:22] I mean, for example, except experiencing?

Speaker 2 [00:05:28] Since the relationship is experiencing, I used experiencing in a very broad sense.

Speaker 1 [00:05:34] I mean, then you can open experiencing a little more.

Speaker 2 [00:05:36] haaa I understand. Experiencing is different in the field of knowing yourself. It is different in the area with your social world. In your close environment, I mean, or let me put it this way, your process of getting to know yourself, your integration with the social environment and your own goals, that is, your experiences in the field of achieving your life purpose, I can say that I contribute to all three, that is, I can say that it is integrated, accompanied. I mean, whichever one he says, I would take 8 risks out of 10. He used to take 4, his risk has increased from 4 out of 10 to 5 and a half. Again, it's not much, but... mine went from 8 to 7-6 and a half. But that difference of one and a half or two points still ensures the dynamism of that relationship. When it is necessary, I can add something quickly in the meantime. And when the time comes, if he thinks that I'm moving at eight or nine, he pulls me back very quickly there, brakes me, puts the brakes on, I mean, this doesn't mean anything. So these are just technical issues, thoughts and deeper, that is, the thoughts in yourself, the thoughts and behaviors in your environment and the strategies you set up on the way to your goals. It can make a broad thing.

Speaker 1 [00:07:23] So do you feel safe in this relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:07:27] By secure, do you mean in the sense of being concerned about the future prospects?

Speaker 1 [00:07:33] I mean, however you see it?

Speaker 2 [00:07:40] Yes, I do. I mean I don't have any worries about the future. You know when you start a relationship, will something go wrong, will we break up, will he leave me? If something goes wrong in such and such a way, I generally do not have such a concern. I mean, if there is something that you believe will not end, it does not matter whether you lived through the process or not. You know, as the saying goes, no matter what happens, it is still lined up together, so it is a relationship that I think and am sure that the point of separation will not come. That's why I feel safe...

Speaker 1 [00:08:27] Well, now I will show you a question from a scale on the screen, but it is not that you cannot read it. I will already read it out loud like this, let me show you. I'm reading it. "My partner usually really listens to me." 1. Not true at all. 9. About to be completely true. What would your answer be?

Speaker 2 [00:08:48] uh, in the sense of listening 8. He is a very good listener.

Speaker 1 [00:08:54] Hmm here comes another one. "My partner is usually sensitive to my needs." One is not true at all, nine is completely true.

Speaker 2: 9.

Speaker 1 : Nine. So my first question, " My partner usually really listens to me." Why did you give the answer 8?

Speaker 2 [00:09:14] I mean, I mean, there must be, uh... I mean, assuming that he can't behave to his full capacity, I mean, there must be a deficit. But in terms of sensitivity, he is very high level in terms of perceived behavioral control. I mean, I am at the highest level for him, for his perceived behavioral control, I mean... I know him.

Speaker 1 [00:09:39] So, why-when was the last time you thought that he was listening to you like that? Can you give a concrete example?

Speaker 2 [00:09:47] A concrete example. I mean, listening to your problem or listening to you about anything? You know, what did I convey?

Speaker 1 [00:09:56] Listening in general... listening so it doesn't have to be a specific topic.

Speaker 2 [00:10:02] I mean, can I tell the topic...? Can I remember? I'll tell you something on the way and what was it? I can't give an example.

Speaker 1 [00:10:19] Okay. So why eight and not seven or nine or seven or nine?

Speaker 2 [00:10:25] Which one? The nineteenth question? With listening?

Speaker 1 [00:10:27] He usually really listens to me. Speaker 1 [00:10:27] Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:10:31] So, you know. Seven is what? What's that equal to?

Speaker 1 [00:10:37] 7 Very true. 9 Exactly right.

Speaker 2 [00:10:40] But in between, I mean, it's a little bit high now, but I can't say perfect one hundred percent, I mean, if I say ninety percent, the other one seems to fall a little bit to eighty-seventy-five, that's why. But in the other one, in terms of sensitivity, it is over 90, that is, close to a hundred, I rounded it there.

Speaker 1 [00:11:02] Sensitive now this. "My partner is usually sensitive to me". you gave it an eight.

Speaker 2 [00:11:08] No, I gave it a nine.

Speaker 1 [00:11:09] Sorry, you gave it a nine. I apologize for that. And when was the last time this happened in your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:11:20] Uh, let's say the last time.

Speaker 1 [00:11:22] A concrete example.

Speaker 2 [00:11:24] A concrete example. I have two children. It's about children. Their study study. It's related to the children. In something, let's say when I had to meet the child's emotion there, he showed sensitivity with full support and empathy.

Speaker 1 [00:11:55] I see. So why nine and not eight?

Speaker 2 [00:12:03] I mean, I don't have a moment when he was insensitive. Let me put it like that. I can remember a few things that I felt that he wasn't listening. I mean, that memory comes, but I don't have any memory of his insensitivity. Do you feel safe in your attempt to keep yourself safe? Probably because of this high perfect sensitivity, I feel sure and safe in that relationship.

Speaker 1 [00:12:39] Okay? I hope you don't mind me asking and if this is a sensitive subject for you please feel free to say so. But we would like to know a little bit more about your physical intimacy as a couple. How often do you have sexual intercourse these days?

Speaker 2 [00:12:54] Ya bu-nuu... How can we skip it? I'll skip it because you can skip it(?)

Speaker 1 [00:13:04] I mean. Since the answers will not be told to each other anyway, you can be comfortable with that.

Speaker 2 [00:13:10] No. I still know it automatically.

Speaker 1 [00:13:15] Okay, so if you do, we can move on.

Speaker 2 [00:13:16] Don't answer, don't answer, but you know, imagine that there is no sexual intercourse.

Speaker 1 [00:13:22] Uh-huh then I'll skip here. So how satisfied are you with your overall relationship? This is a 7-point scale, one being completely dissatisfied, seven being completely satisfied.

Speaker 2 [00:13:36] What is six?

Speaker 1 [00:13:38] Very satisfied.

Speaker 2 [00:13:41] So seven for the moment.

Speaker 1 [00:13:45] So, completely satisfied.

Speaker 2 [00:13:47] I'm completely satisfied. I mean I don't know.

Speaker 1 [00:13:52] Okay 0. I'm not satisfied at all. 10. How would you rate your satisfaction in your relationship, completely satisfied?

Speaker 2 [00:14:00] Wait a minute, didn't I just answer that?

Speaker 1 [00:14:03] Hmm, now I'm asking from 0 to 10.

Speaker 2 [00:14:08] He heh, I understand, in terms of degrees. So let me say 9. Let me tell you the reason directly then. You know, there are some areas that you need to solve about that harmony. Not that I can't solve them, but that's the thing about it... I'll leave this cap, 9.

Speaker 1 [00:14:36] Okay. So did your relationship live up to expectations?

Speaker 2 [00:14:42] Yes. Is it my expectations or?

Speaker 1 [00:14:46] Your expectations.

Speaker 2 [00:14:48] It did. Of course.

Speaker 1 [00:14:50] So can you elaborate on that a little bit more?

Speaker 2 [00:14:55] Well if I come with the initial questions. He has a good, emotional, intense, emotional intelligence and her emotional intelligence is high level. So he has the right empathy and like hypersensitivity. You know, hypersensitivity, a state of extreme hypersensitivity, makes me feel safe, and so I actually think that this empathy and sensitivity is due to spiritual compatibility and matching. Because I think it is due to spiritual matching and a correct spiritual match, I can channel my mind to him comfortably. I don't feel any anxiety or anything there. So I don't experience any conflict in the physical physical field, in physical life practices. That's how I can summarize it. A little bit because I am a taxonomic taxonomic person. This is ordinary.

Speaker 1 [00:16:17] Now we are about to finish. Let me give you a summary of what we talked about. When you were working [1-5] years ago, but you have been in a relationship for about [1-5] and a half years. What is important for you in a relationship: Mental, spiritual and sensual things on an equal level. Yes, on an equal level.

Speaker 2 [00:16:41] Balanced, not necessarily equal, but you know, ideal, balanced, balanced. When you say level, it's a bit of a thing. But this is very important, the spiritual, the mind, since the mental also forms the physical unity, for example, the root is spiritual for me.

Speaker 1 [00:17:02] Hmph. Also, these three are the things that make a relationship quality for you, you think that your relationship has changed and you think that your partner has changed in this relationship. You feel safe, you feel that you have an overall quality relationship and you are satisfied with your relationship. Is there anything you would like to add?

Speaker 2 [00:17:27] Not at the moment. Speaker 2 [00:17:27] You know the last...

Speaker 2 [00:17:30] I think I was able to summarize what I said in the last question. I think that I am in the right relationship, that I have a partner with a high emotional intelligence, that we have established a correct connection in the spiritual sense, that we understand each other well mentally because the match is good, and that we are walking the right way. Physically, physically, in terms of life practices, so I do not have a significant conflict. So we are fine. God forbid.

Speaker 1 [00:18:18] God willing. Now we are about to finish. I'm going to ask you questions about how we're going to handle the data. The first option is this. To share some parts of the transcript of our interview. None of these transcripts will contain any information that can identify you. So that the de-identified interview transcript can be read by other researchers. The second option is.

Speaker 2 [00:18:44] I saw this.

Speaker 1 [00:18:45] Sir.

Speaker 2 [00:18:46] The area that you have de-identified, will I be able to see what it is? Will you be able to transmit it to me or?

Speaker 1 [00:18:52] Let me ask that because I don't know. The second option, if you don't mind and if you want to be a bit bolder, is to share our interview transcript completely stripped of all sensitive and overly identifying details, that is, anonymized. In this option there is a slim chance that someone who knows you well will be able to piece together the details of the interview, the transcript and narrow down the choices among colleagues as to who they believe you to be. I would like to repeat that no sensitive information will be shared. Which option would you choose?

Speaker 2 [00:19:26] The first one is good.

Speaker 1 [00:19:28] Okay, the first one.

Speaker 2 [00:19:29] But it would be nice if I could see the text of the first one, you know, as an experimenter, as an experimenter, you know, not the notes you took, you know, the evaluation of that speech, the draft that you made, you know, I know it from that moment. So it would be very good for me if I could see the de-identified draft that you will evaluate.

Speaker 1 [00:19:54] Okay, I will ask you about that, I will get back to you.

Speaker 2 [00:19:57] Okay.

Speaker 1 [00:19:58] Okay. We are done here. Thank you very much for joining us.

Speaker 2 [00:20:02] Thank you very much.

Speaker 1 [00:20:03] It was an enjoyable interview. I'll stop the recording until we meet again.
