

Speaker 1 [00:00:02] All right. So, we'll start with some basic demographic questions. So how old are you?

Speaker 2 [00:00:10] I am currently [21-25].

Speaker 1 [00:00:13] [21-25]. All right. And how long have you been with your partner?

Speaker 2 [00:00:18] Since [Year]. So [1-5] years.

Speaker 1 [00:00:24] All right.

Speaker 1 [00:00:25] Yeah. Do you have children?

Speaker 2 [00:00:28] No.

Speaker 1 [00:00:30] All right.

Speaker 1 [00:00:31] Who lives in your household?

Speaker 2 [00:00:34] I live with my parents and my little brother.

Speaker 1 [00:00:40] Alright.

Speaker 1 [00:00:41] And what is your main source of income?

Speaker 2 [00:00:45] My main source of income would be like my, like my job? Like where I work?

Speaker 1 [00:00:52] Yes yes.

Speaker 2 [00:00:54] I work at an [office]. I'm an [occupation], but they pay me [Income] an hour minimum wage.

Speaker 1 [00:01:02] Where. I'm sorry. Where was that again?

Speaker 2 [00:01:04] Oh, it's an [office].

Speaker 1 [00:01:11] Okay, okay, okay. All right. All right, sounds good.

Speaker 1 [00:01:13] And, so for the remainder of this interview, how would you like me to address your partner, boyfriend? Partner by his name or?

Speaker 2 [00:01:21] Oh, whatever. Whatever you like. His name is [Boyfriend]. But, yeah, you can call my boyfriend anywhere because he is.

Speaker 1 [00:01:30] All right. Okay. So. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:01:33] So for next question, could you tell me more about your love story?

Speaker 2 [00:01:39] Okay. Like how we met and stuff.

Speaker 1 [00:01:42] Yeah. So, like, when did you meet and how did the relationship come to what it is today?

Speaker 2 [00:01:50] Okay, so we met in [City A] at [College], which is a community college in [City A]. And basically, we both were scouted in high school to join the track team there. And, we both went to that school and we met on the track team. We happened to do a lot of similar events in track, and then from there, we just kind of ended up spending a lot of time together in track. We also had similar classes because again, we met like in the very beginning of our college, careers. So a lot of like general ed classes that I had to take, he also had to take as well. So we had a couple classes together, ended up getting closer from there just because we basically spent a lot of time and we're just always constantly around each other outside of school, in school. And then. Yeah, and then kind of just ended up dating after a while.

Speaker 1 [00:02:55] All right. Thank you, thank you.

Speaker 1 [00:02:59] So how so?

Speaker 1 [00:03:01] I guess in terms of, like, relationships. How would you compare the quality of your relationship compared to like, the relationships of your friends?

Speaker 2 [00:03:12] My relationship is definitely, I don't have any friends that have, like. Well, except for, like one, friend that I do have or like, they have, like a nice long term relationship. My relationship is definitely long term. My other friends are kind of just dating around talking to new people. They don't necessarily have, like a long term girlfriend that they've been with for a while. So I definitely as far as like in my friend group, it's like, oh yeah, you guys are you guys are going to get married. But you, I'm still looking for somebody, you know. Right. Oh, okay.

Speaker 1 [00:03:52] All right. All right.

Speaker 1 [00:03:55] Sounds good. So, how many romantic partners would you say you've had in the past?

Speaker 2 [00:04:02] In beforehand I only had two in high school. I had one, my sophomore year, and then one my junior year, kind of going into my senior year a little bit. But we broke up, like, very beginning of my senior year of high school. And then, [1-5] year and a half, almost [1-5] years later, I met who I'm currently with now.

Speaker 1 [00:04:29] All right. Sounds good. Well.

Speaker 1 [00:04:32] I guess, how would you compare the relationship of your, with your boyfriend now compared to your previous relationships?

Speaker 2 [00:04:42] As far as previous ones and still those were in high school, they were definitely like more immature, I guess, like it was just kind of like. We more like, liked each other. And that's the only reason why we're together versus like when I'm with my boyfriend now, I've been with for [1-5] years and we met when we were in college. It's more mature. And as far as like it's, it's definitely more like long term. We have much more serious conversations about like, oh, like we need to figure out, like when we're going to move in together, when we plan on having kids for like timeline wise, we, we make plans as far as like future wise. And I never did that with, my little high school relationships that didn't last very long.

Speaker 1 [00:05:34] Alright.

Speaker 1 [00:05:34] So.

Speaker 1 [00:05:36] For you. What makes your relationship high quality?

Speaker 2 [00:05:42] High quality, I would say. With us. There's. I don't know. I just feel like we're very, just we're very trusting with each other, like, I can I can trust me. Like, for, he's very, like, a dependable person. Reliable person. Like, no matter what. Like, you know, he's just always has my back. And I think that's kind of like, we just have, like, we always, like, are there for each other. I think that's what makes it, high quality is just always being supportive and being there for each other no matter what.

Speaker 1 [00:06:25] Okay. So.

Speaker 1 [00:06:32] So would you say that. Okay, so you would say to high quality relationships, you know, have a lot of trust. Can you tell me more about how one knows that one is in a trusting relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:06:47] I feel like I know I'm in a very trusting relationship as far as we have, pretty similar upbringings. Like as far as, pretty similar childhood, with our, I don't know, like, kind of similar. The way we're raised is very similar. And on top of that, as far as our previous relationships, those ones kind of ended, like, at least for me, like, I got cheated on and so did he. He got left for someone else. So it's kind of like one of those things where when we got older, it was when we met each other. It was that trust. of like, well, I don't understand how that happened to me. I don't I would never want to hurt somebody like that. And he kind of like can relate to that feeling of like, yeah, I don't like I don't like a, you know, untrustworthy person kind of thing. So we kind of just both from our past traumas and, you know, are looking at our families. We're pretty similar. It's just we grew we were raised very similarly as far as like with good morals and being able to just be a good person and a trustworthy person or loyal person. He has that. I know he was, because he was probably raised good and I felt like I was raised very well. I grew up in a [religion] household and went to private school and all that kind of stuff. So, yeah. So as far as a trustworthy relationship, being raised pretty similarly with good morals and on top of that, like as far as past traumas and previous relationships kind of things that like, we wouldn't imagine doing that to someone that you really care about. So I feel like that's how I kind of know I'm in a very trustworthy relationship.

Speaker 1 [00:08:38] All right.

Speaker 1 [00:08:39] But thank you so much for that.

Speaker 1 [00:08:41] So.

Speaker 1 [00:08:42] I asked you if, what makes a relationship high quality? What makes a relationship a low quality?

Speaker 2 [00:08:51] Low quality. I would say. Low quality relationship will probably just the opposite of the high quality just having and really like, I Like untrustworthy or kind of type of relationship where, like, you guys can't, like, if you can't, like, tell your person something right away or, like, sneaking around and stuff like that, like, and think it's important to be open with your partner no matter what the situation is, regardless of like how you think they might react. And I think when you can't have that is when that's a pretty low quality relationship, because at the end of the day, you should be able to run to your person no matter what's going on.

Speaker 1 [00:09:42] Yeah, All right. We've touched some of these things in your previous answers, but I want to ask again. What are the most important things in a relationship? And why do you say so?

Speaker 2 [00:09:57] Most important thing would be definitely trust in communication. And definitely like support. Would probably be my top three most important thing. Which I know sounds pretty basic, but it really is.

Speaker 1 [00:00:18] Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:10:19] Important to communicate. Especially like for someone like me where I tend to have trouble to communicate. How like I feel sometimes I feel very strongly about something, but I would just lack communication just because I'm upset about it or whatever it is. But communication is very important and trust is also very important. It's also important to be supportive of your partner. As far as like anything in life, whether it's work or school or whatever they're trying to do.

Speaker 1 [00:10:50] All right. Yes. Thank you for that. All right. So until so, next question, for you, what is love?

Speaker 2 [00:11:00] What is love. I would describe love as, I don't want to say it's just an emotion. But definitely I feel a lot stronger connection with my partner now than I ever had, like, I don't think my past relationships I ever really, was in love with the person, but I can honestly say that I'm pretty in love with who I am with now just because, again, his very great qualities that, I'm very attracted to as far as, he's just a very, like, nice and sweet person, kind of like, a heart of gold type of person. I learned to, like, really appreciate that. because sometimes I feel like I can be a little cold. So it's nice to have somebody that's so sweet. And I just. I love that about him. I love all his, I love him as a, as a person. I think that's for me. Love would be like loving him as an individual. Not just the relationship itself, but him as an individual is what I love. I love our relationship, but I love him more than our relationship because even if we weren't in a relationship together, I would still have a lot of love for him as a person and an individual. That he is.

Speaker 1 [00:12:36] All right, Okay, so.

Speaker 1 [00:12:42] I know you touched on it, but I just want to repeat it again. How important is love in a relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:12:48] I think it's very very important, because, especially because I don't feel like love is just one thing. It's definitely, it's like a buildup of many different things that make you love someone as far as, like, the person they are. And, that kind of stuff is. But yeah, I mean love, love is definitely very important because I definitely feel like, I definitely think there's a difference between loving someone and then being really in love with someone. Because as far as, like my past relationships, like, yeah, I can say that, like, I love the person, but, I don't think I was ever in love with the people I was with beforehand.

So I think now is like, it's definitely different. I don't know how to really explain it. But yes, it is very important. I, I definitely think it's super important to be in love with the person, because I think the deeper you're into this, the less likely you are to, like, fall out of it or like you care. You have so much care that you, no matter what happens, you want to fix. If there is any like, tension or whatever is going on.

Speaker 1 [00:14:11] All right. So how do you know that your partner loves you?

Speaker 2 [00:14:20] I knew I needed my part and I was me. I would say through his actions. He's he's, shown me through action as far as, emotionally being there for me, mentally being there for me. He's very caring and. Very nurturing and loving. Went, towards me no matter what. Especially in times of, like, hardships. If I'm going through something hard. He's, he's always just. He drops everything and will come to me. So I think through his actions, I can tell that my partner loves me because the things that he's done for me, I mean, I don't think it just anybody would have done that for me.

Speaker 1 [00:15:17] Oh, it sounds. uhm. Thank you. So. So now the question I have has something to do with challenges. What would you say are challenges in your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:15:31] Challenges. Challenges in our relationships. Lets See. I would think. Maybe, I mean, sometimes a little bit of communication because again, I can be a little, closed off at times. And so, some challenging things would be like if I'm upset about something, I tend to isolate myself quite a bit, which I know can be challenging for him, because if he really wants to, like, fix the situation, he can't. If I don't want to speak about it right now. So communication can sometimes be challenging on my end. And, challenging as of right now. Another thing would probably be like, we're trying to figure out how to finally move in together, because we've been kind of for a while, and it's challenging with, inflation. Who can afford anything?

Speaker 1 [00:16:44] Yeah,

Speaker 1 [00:16:45] That's hard, that's challenging. Is, also trying to get our lives going together because, like, we just kind of want to be together finally and not living, like, living with our parents and stuff like that. So that's another different type of challenge. But yeah, I think those are too big too.

Speaker 1 [00:17:01] Okay. All right. So. Do you and your partner ever fight?

Speaker 2 [00:17:07] Yes. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:17:10] How often do you are, would you say these fights are?

Speaker 2 [00:17:14] They're not very often. I would say the most we've ever fought in was probably in the very beginning of our relationship. And I think that was just because we were just still kind of getting used to each other and, like, learning each other's ways of being and stuff like that. But as of right now, being [1-5] years into a we do not argue nearly as much. And it's and I may not necessarily say they're like big fights at all. They're a lot of times it's just little annoying little things that just kind of like just little bickering, arguing about like just normal stuff as far as, like, I don't know, like he forgot to do something that I told him to do a week ago or something like that. So nothing too big now that we're so far into it.

Speaker 1 [00:18:12] Okay. So how would you resolve these fights?

Speaker 2 [00:18:19] I'm definitely sitting down and talking about it eventually. Sometimes I do not like to talk about things right away. So I will let me have my time to kind of collect my thoughts and feelings. And then when I'm in a more level headed space like headspace, and then we will talk about it like a day or two later. But definitely it's always going to be a sit down, conversation. Just to and we do that just to avoid it falling up into an argument when things are very tense. If they happen, like in the moment kind of thing.

Speaker 1 [00:19:02] All right. Okay. So aside from, you know, communicating, what other ways do you use to maintain a relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:19:15] To maintain the relationship a quality time. Spending quality time together. Whether that's, you know, going out to dinner, walking on the beach. It can even be as simple as when we go to an empty parking lot. And he teaches me how to drive his stick shift car. Like, that's also spending quality time and funny moments like that. Or playing video games together too. We like to play, games a lot, and that also helps, because I think gaming is also a big thing with us, because since we don't live, we live 45 minutes away from each other. So I think it's a good way to keep connection is when, we can still spend quality time together playing games, even though we are in a 45 minute range in two different houses kind of thing too.

Speaker 1 [00:20:03] All right. Would you say that the relationship is good for you?

Speaker 2 [00:20:10] Oh, yes.

Speaker 1 [00:20:12] Why would you say that?

Speaker 2 [00:20:15] It's definitely. I feel like this relationship is. It's not stressful at all. It's not. This is not something that contributes to stress. Stress, to me, is work and school. My relationship has nothing to do with stress at all on any sides. Probably the only thing that's keeping me pretty sane.

Speaker 1 [00:20:37] All right. So did the relationship change you? If so, in what way?

Speaker 2 [00:20:47] I would say yes, that it did change me. I definitely think I'm a, happier person as far as, like. Like. So yeah. So this relationship definitely changed me because, I'm in a really healthy one. I feel like very healthy and healthier than any other relationship I was, been in. So it definitely changed me for the better as far as like because I definitely feel like since we met each other pretty young, we've also kind of grown up with each other. So I feel like we both kind of helped each other grow into being. Good people and responsible and. We've experienced a lot of milestones together. So, yeah, so definitely getting it changed in, as, growing into an adult, I want to say help me grow into who I am.

Speaker 1 [00:21:53] What about your partner? Did they change in the relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:21:59] I think he did. I definitely think he's going to be a lot more mature. I think he's going to be a lot more mature and genuinely happy, healthier person. Because I know when I met him, he was pretty. I mean, he's talked to me about it as far as, like, how he was pretty. Kind of like a zombie going through life. You like to say like, kind of just going with the flow. But now that he's like, he's I'm much more I have a lot more energy now. I'm happy. And just like, it's just stress free now.

Speaker 1 [00:22:39] Yeah, he's a lot more stress free. All right.

Speaker 1 [00:22:47] Sorry. So do you feel the relationship is, do you feel safe in the relationship? And why do you say so?

Speaker 2 [00:22:57] Yes. I definitely feel safe in my relationship now. I would say because again, I'm in a really healthy relationship as far as like, we have history together and grew up together. I feel like there's just really I'm in a safe relationship as far as, like, there's no, there's no lines to read between. There's nothing. And we're both very open with each other, so nobody's hiding anything. And I think that makes me feel safe because, like, no matter what, he knows everything and anything about me and what's going on with me, and like, you know, and it's kind of the, it's the same thing with him. Like, I have no worries with him. No stress, no nothing. I think that's what makes me feel safe, mental and emotional. That. I'm in a safe relationship.

Speaker 1 [00:23:57] All right. That's good. That's good. All right. So, for the next question, I do want to show you, like, somewhat of the visual presentation, and I want to hear your input on it.

Speaker 1 [00:24:11] Right.

Speaker 1 [00:24:13] Just find.

Speaker 1 [00:24:14] Them. So.

Speaker 1 [00:24:17] Allow me to share my. Screen for a moment. All right.

Speaker 1 [00:24:25] So I have. Two questions here, but I want to address the first one first. So you here you should see a statement that says my partner usually listens to me. And it's a scale of. It's on a scale of 1 to 9. One meaning Not at all true. Nine. Meaning completely true. How would you rate your partner based on the scale?

Speaker 2 [00:24:53] Definitely. A nine.

Speaker 1 [00:24:54] Definitely a nine. All right. We'll get to that in a little bit. What about this one? My partner is usually responsive to my needs. It's the same logic. How would you rate your partner? One means not at all true. He doesn't do this whatsoever. Nine means completely true.

Speaker 2 [00:25:13] Nine for sure.

Speaker 1 [00:25:14] All right. So. Yeah. Stop sharing your screen first.

Speaker 1 [00:25:19] Okay.

Speaker 1 [00:25:25] Oh. So. You rated him nine. Can you ask, can I ask why? Nine. What did you like? Give him the highest rating.

Speaker 2 [00:25:38] I think it's the highest rating because, if it genuinely is true, he definitely does listen to me. And as far as, like, my, my needs, he definitely does, like, cater to me, a lot in any way he can. Yeah. So definitely, that's why I gave him the highest rating. So it's genuinely true he's a good person and he's a good partner to be with.

Speaker 1 [00:26:15] All right, Can you give me an example of what he would, you know, you would say, cater to your needs.

Speaker 2 [00:26:22] Cater to my needs. If I'm dealing with, like, let's see, I'm really catering to my needs. I just feel like if anything, like happens as far as, like, like one time, my cat got hit by a car. I called him, and I was crying, and I was upset. And even though he basically had just gone to work, he left. And he came to my house to basically, comfort me when I needed him the most. And that's kind of like what? I mean, we're like, he's, he's supportive and he's always there, and he caters to me. Really does.

Speaker 1 [00:27:15] Credit. Thank you. Okay. So for the next question, I know you rated him nine. Why not eight?

Speaker 2 [00:27:26] Why not eight?

Speaker 1 [00:27:27] Everything? You know what you mean.

Speaker 2 [00:27:29] Because I really do feel like he goes above and beyond for me. I don't think there's really anything we can do to improve. I think he really does. Like, if he's listening to me, he really does get me, like, undivided attention. And, wants to hear what I have to say. Especially because I'm not someone that, talks very much. So whenever I do have something to say, he's like. He's like, yeah, tell me about it. Go go go on. Yeah. Go on. He you know, and he'll listen all the time.

Speaker 1 [00:28:15] All right. Thank you so much for that part. So for the...

Speaker 1 [00:28:18] Second question, I got a second question. Thank you so much. I know for the second question. Yeah. For the second question, you mentioned that he really caters to your needs. You answered that and you mentioned how your partner usually listens to that.

Speaker 1 [00:28:39] All right. So...

Speaker 1 [00:28:46] Can you give me an. I mean, you I did give examples, but can you give me, let's say, an example of...

Speaker 1 [00:28:53] When or rather in this sense, I know for the second question you rated him nine as well.

Speaker 2 [00:28:59] Uhm...

Speaker 1 [00:29:00] Can you explain why nine for the second question? So I know for the first question he listens to you gave him a nine for the responses to my needs why nine as well.

Speaker 2 [00:29:12] Why nine? I would say. I want to say, like I give my nine as well for he responds to my needs. just because he he really is, always there. It's very, supportive.

So that's why I gave him a nine, because I feel like when I hear, like. When I think of like responds to needs, I kind of think of like like support, like he's supportive and that's definitely true about him. So that's why I gave him a nine for that.

Speaker 1 [00:30:02] right. Okay.Okay. So...

Speaker 1 [00:30:05] I hope you don't mind if I ask. And, you know, feel free to say this if this is like too sensitive for you to share. But I also wanted to know more about physical intimacy. That being said, these days, how often do you guys have sex?

Speaker 2 [00:30:25] Don't. To live together. I would say. Two times a week because we only get two days. He needs two days off and I only get two days off. So. Other than that, work in school all day and we go. We live in separate homes.

Speaker 1 [00:30:49] All right, that's fine.

Speaker 1 [00:30:53] So would you say you're satisfied with your sex life?

Speaker 2 [00:30:58] Yes. Yeah, very much so. I feel like it's not too much. It's not too little. I think it's just fine for me personally and for him personally and just kind of works. So. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:31:11] All right. You'd say you're satisfied mostly because of, like, the number of times it happens.

Speaker 2 [00:31:20] That and. Yeah. Yeah, basically just that. I don't feel like it's all the time because.

Speaker 1 [00:31:32] Yeah. That's fine.

Speaker 1 [00:31:33] So that's. Thank you. All right. So I just have, one more visual to show you. I have another visual over here, and it's pretty much to this point. So I have seven, like, clauses or phrases that would describe your relationship, going from completely dissatisfied, meaning just relationships, just downright horrible to completely satisfied where the relationship is perfect or near perfect. That being said, how satisfied are you with your, with your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:32:08] Completely satisfied.

Speaker 1 [00:32:10] Completely satisfied.

Speaker 1 [00:32:11] Okay. Right. So.

Speaker 1 [00:32:17] So I know you said you're completely satisfied. On a scale of 0 to 10. What would that be?

Speaker 2 [00:32:26] Definitely a 10.

Speaker 1 [00:32:26] 10. Okay. Satisfied a 10.

Speaker 1 [00:32:34] Can you tell me why, he got a ten?

Speaker 2 [00:32:41] I gave them a ten. Because-

Speaker 1 [00:32:43] Your relationship partner. I'm not him.

Speaker 2 [00:32:45] Okay. Yeah, I give my, 10 out of 10 because, again, this happy, healthy, this is very much, a mature, long term relationship where it's kind of like, we we definitely are planning our future together. And I don't think really anything is going to change that at this rate.

Speaker 1 [00:33:12] Alright alright.

Speaker 1 [00:33:16] So, I know I asked this before. I'm going to ask it again. I know you rated him ten. Why not nine?

Speaker 2 [00:33:24] Why not nine? Because I think he is much, he's much more than, just my boyfriend. I also consider him family and my best friend. And so, that's definitely why I give him, he he takes on more roles in my life than just my boyfriend.

Speaker 1 [00:33:48] All right, sounds good. All right. That being said, did the relationship fulfill your expectations?

Speaker 2 [00:33:57] Yes. For sure.

Speaker 1 [00:34:01] Right. Okay. But...

Speaker 1 [00:34:04] So, we are close to wrapping up

Speaker 1 [00:34:10] And I would just like to summarize what we have conversed over the past, like, 35 ish minutes, 40 minutes. So just to clarify, you're [21-25] years old. You've been at your relationship is like, I believe, [1-5] years in a day, actually.

Speaker 2 [00:34:26] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:34:31] Do you have children? You don't have children. You live with your brother and your parents. I know you work as an [occupation] You guys met in [City A] at a community college. You guys kind of grew up together and then grow closer. And then you ended up dating.

Speaker 2 [00:34:51] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:34:53] I know you said you don't really have any other friends who are in, like. Relationships, and then the others are kind of just dating around with no long term goals. You've had two partners before. You said they were like a little immature compared to your current.

Speaker 2 [00:35:11] mhm...

Speaker 2 [00:35:13] You mentioned high quality relationships having trust. You mentioned trust being supportive and, communication. I know, just to clarify, you also mentioned that you grew up [religion].

Speaker 2 [00:35:28] Yes.

Speaker 1 [00:35:29] Right. All right.

Speaker 1 [00:35:32] And you mentioned low quality is pretty much just the opposite of the high quality, which is lack of trust. You definitely mentioned trust, support, communication a lot. You've mentioned what love is with respect to your partner. You mentioned, all the good qualities that he has. Love is very important. you would say he loves you to actions. Challenges in the relationship, you think our communication. Just because you mentioned. Sometimes you like to isolate yourself. You don't want to talk. Other than that, nothing is really that big of an issue. You say you don't really. You guys don't, like, have a lot of fights. Like, this isn't really a thing that you guys do. You guys communicate, though. Just don't resolve it if it does happen. Quality time together is another way you maintain a good quality relationship. no stress in the relationship. You said it changed you and you changed him. You guys kind of change each other to become a little bit more happy and mature. You feel safe in your relationship, and you pretty much gave your, boyfriend, like, the perfect scores like mine.

Speaker 1 [00:36:59] All right.

Speaker 1 [00:37:02] So, that being said, thank you so much. But before we end, I do want to talk to you about how we will handle the data, project. We want to be as ethically transparent as humanly possible. And so we want to let you know which data sharing option you might be comfortable with. We have two. The first one, option one is that transcript portions can be shared, none of which will be identified to you. So the de-identified transcript can also be read by other researchers. Or option two. Another option is that the whole transcript can be read, can be shared. But we will remove all the sensitive and overly identifying details. So it will be anonymized. Although in this option there is a very, very, very minimal chance that someone who knows you well can piece together the details in the transcript and narrowed down who among their colleagues they believe it is. Although, once again, I'm going to stress it out. No sensitive information will be shared. No information that can link you to whatever happened, will happen. So that being said, which option is more comfortable to you? Option 1 or 2.

Speaker 2 [00:38:19] Honestly, I don't I don't mind either one. So this is just for like, data purposes. What's the, what's the most useful for you? Honestly, I don't I don't mind either one.

Speaker 1 [00:38:36] Yeah. I mean, I don't want it's fine to us. It doesn't really, matter to us. So I guess it's just a matter of, like which which would you want at this point? Because it honestly doesn't really matter to us.

Speaker 2 [00:38:50] Okay. I don't know. Yeah. I really don't care for it. Which one do people usually pick? The first after the second one?

Speaker 1 [00:39:02] I actually am not really sure. I do not keep track of that.

Speaker 2 [00:39:05] Oh, okay.

Speaker 1 [00:39:08] But we do offer these choices. Just, just in case it did matter. I know for you, you said it doesn't really matter. Would you just want option two?

Speaker 2 [00:39:20] I'll just do two and it's fine. Oh, it's your number up there. I like even number if I'm speaking number two.

Speaker 1 [00:39:27] All right. That's fine. All right. That being said, we are almost done. Thank you so much for participating in this study. I would like you to know that this is also being done in the following countries the Philippines, Brazil, France, Turkey and the US. So that being said, for this study to be successful, there's one more thing that I want to ask with you. If That's fine. Could you recommend at least, you know two close people in your life as a nominator? We would ask them for additional couples that might be interested in this study, but will be asking them for couples that you do not know or people that you don't interact with.

Speaker 2 [00:40:02] Okay.

Speaker 1 [00:40:03] This way we can get as diverse as a that as we can get. Would that be fine?

Speaker 2 [00:40:15] Yeah. That's fine.

Speaker 1 [00:40:17] All right. So that being said, do you know anyone who might know a certain couple for this study? I know it was posted on Sona, but basically, we were wondering specifically, do you know, let's say, of any couples who have been together for, like, 5 to 10 years? You know, that they're kind of like you in terms of, socioeconomic status. But this time they're not satisfied. So basically, your relationship.

Speaker 1 [00:40:46] Not satisfied. You know someone who knows.

Speaker 2 [00:40:50] Well, I don't know, a couple who are not satisfied. But I feel like if you're not satisfied then break up. But I don't know if I really wanna be part of this, you know, relationship that they're not satisfied, especially more than five years. That's like.

Speaker 1 [00:41:07] Yeah. Or alternatively, if, you know, like maybe a couple that's been together for like 10 to 20, they're not satisfied and they have low socioeconomic status.

Speaker 1 [00:41:18] I mean, if they're broken up, it's fine.

Speaker 2 [00:41:21] Oh, okay. I don't know. I would have to, like, I don't know, I can't think of anybody off the top of my head right now. If I do of someone, I can email it.

Speaker 1 [00:41:36] Sure, absolutely.

Speaker 2 [00:41:37] Off the top of my head, I don't think I know a couple with, like, that criteria.

Speaker 1 [00:41:46] we are looking for. Let's just say an LGBT couple. It doesn't matter who they are. It doesn't matter what length as Well, it could be like, it's a just a new relationship or they've been together for years. But once again, yeah, it's the same thing, like low this low satisfaction. That low, like low to mid income.

Speaker 2 [00:42:12] Okay. Okay. Well, I definitely know, like, couples that are the LGBTQ community, but I don't think they're unsatisfied with each other. Very happy together. But, yeah, I, I do know two couples. But they're there again. They're happy. They're not unsatisfied.

Speaker 1 [00:42:37] Okay. All right. So.
