

Speaker 1 [00:00:01] Okay. Uhm. So. Yeah. This interview should take up approximately one hour. And I just have a few questions for you. All right.

Speaker 2 [00:00:10] Okay.

Speaker 1 [00:00:11] All right. So the first few questions are demographics. Uhm. The first one is how old are you?

Speaker 2 [00:00:17] Uhm. I am [21-25].

Speaker 1 [00:00:19] [21-25]. Okay. All right. How long have you been together with your partner?

Speaker 2 [00:00:25] For about [1-5] years.

Speaker 1 [00:00:29] Alright. Uhm. Do you have children?

Speaker 2 [00:00:31] No. No children.

Speaker 1 [00:00:34] Who lives in your household?

Speaker 2 [00:00:38] Uh. As of right now, I moved back home. I'm with my parents, so just me, my two parents and my sister.

Speaker 1 [00:00:47] Right. Uhm. What is your main source of income? And or what is your current job?

Speaker 2 [00:00:55] Uh. I am currently a [Job Title] for [Company].

Speaker 1 [00:00:58] Right? Okay. And, uhm, so for the remainder of this interview, how would you like us to address your partner?

Speaker 2 [00:01:08] Uh. You can address her as my girlfriend. It's fine.

Speaker 1 [00:01:12] All right. Okay. Uhm. So, can you tell me about your love story?

Speaker 2 [00:01:20] Oh, like how we, uh, first met?

Speaker 1 [00:01:22] Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:01:23] Yeah. So, uh, essentially the first time we saw each other was during track, because we both did track and field back in college. Uhm. It was right after the winter break had just ended and track was starting up again. And first time we saw each other, I was running late and ran up, you know, into the bleachers. And she always tells me this story. She remembers I dropped my sunglasses and they cracked. Uh. She thought that was funny. So, you know, during I know, I kind of started talking to her here and there, during track and field and then complimented, you know, gave her some compliment. And I think eventually, we kind of just started, you know, I think I added her on [Social Media], we started playing some video games together after, you know, after, after, uh, track and school and all of that. Uhm. And then I remember one day, I invited her to go paintballing with me. That was kind of like our first date. We did that for another week or so. [1-5] weeks. We hung out, you know, went to the beach, you know, we're talking. And then I ended up asking her to be my girlfriend. Actually, on the 31st, which would have been yesterday, uh, at the wharf in [City A].

Speaker 1 [00:02:40] All right. Sounds good. Thank you so much for that. Alright. Uhm. So, my next question would be. Thank you so much. So, how would you compare the quality of your relationship compared to that of your friends' relationships?

Speaker 2 [00:02:56] I would compare it, pretty, you know, high quality I think. I have a really great relationship. A lot of my friends are they're either not in relationships or they either, you know, kind of, you know, they don't keep long relationships. For the most part, uhm, that's all my friends. And, you know, some of my coworkers who are my friends, they have, they are a little older than me, they're late 20s. So they are married and so on and so forth. But, uhm, I, I think I'd rate it pretty high up there.

Speaker 1 [00:03:29] All right. Sounds good. Uhm. Why would you say that your friends' relationships don't last long?

Speaker 2 [00:03:39] Well, I know two of my friends are a little younger than [16-20]. So they're just really young. They, they— it's funny, they kind of try to date people that are older than them. Doesn't really work out between them. I would say that's probably the main reason. Uhm. Apart from that, I think they're just not really, I think they're more in the they kind of date to date. They see a problem and then they start thinking about how to break up, you know. I think that's kind of what their mindset is. Mine is a little different.

Speaker 1 [00:04:11] Yeah. All right. Sounds good. Thank you so much. All right. Uhm. So, next question. Can I also ask how many romantic partners you've had in the past?

Speaker 2 [00:04:24] In the past, uhm, I would say, about [1-5], [1-5] girlfriends. Yeah. Including my current one.

Speaker 1 [00:04:35] All right, so that would be [1-5] past girlfriends then. Plus your girlfriend now.

Speaker 2 [00:04:40] Exactly.

Speaker 1 [00:04:41] Oh, yeah. So how would you compare the quality of your relationship with your girlfriend now to your previous [1-5] girlfriends?

Speaker 2 [00:04:51] Uh. It's a lot better. My, my previous girlfriends, I was a lot younger. Things were a little more, uhm, a lot more drama, a lot more, you know, issues to deal with. I feel like now, uhm, [Girlfriend] is a lot more mature. We get along a lot better. Uhm. With me and my past girlfriends, we, there was a lot of arguments. I don't really have that much with my current girlfriend. So, I'd say it's a lot, it's a lot healthier, a lot nicer.

Speaker 1 [00:05:22] All right. Okay. All right. Uhm. So for you, what makes a relationship high quality?

Speaker 2 [00:05:32] I would say, uhm, just genuinely enjoying being, seeing each other. It's not. I don't think it's so much you have to see each other every single day to be happy, and you have to be doing something. I think the healthiest relationships are when, you know, two people could be doing completely separate things, but they're happy just in the presence of another one. I think that makes things high quality. You know, there's a good, you know, good communication. Good. You know. You're on the same page for the most part.

Speaker 1 [00:06:04] Okay. So, I guess how would you say. How would you know if a relationship has good communication?

Speaker 2 [00:06:13] I would say, if you're willing to kind of talk through problems, you know, it doesn't necessarily become an argument when there's a problem, when you can kind of talk it through and come to a conclusion if there's a problem. That would be what I would pretty much consider good communication.

Speaker 1 [00:06:33] All right. Uhm. So what about, I know I asked you about high quality, but for you, what makes a relationship low quality?

Speaker 2 [00:06:42] Low quality would be where you're kind of arguing all the time. Uh. You're not on the same page. And sometimes. And, you know, in a low quality relationship, you sometimes you're together and you don't know why you're together. It's more of, uh, you're not genuinely enjoying being with the other person. You just don't want to break up. Though the more low quality relationships to me.

Speaker 1 [00:07:05] Okay. All right. Uh. Let's see. I guess when would you say. Was there ever a situation when you guys argued all the time?

Speaker 2 [00:07:21] Uh. I wouldn't say a situation where we argued all the time. Uhm. You know, we've had our fair share of arguments, but we usually end up moving past them. So I wouldn't say we had a specific point in time. I would just say, you know, here and there, 'course lots some some disagreements.

Speaker 1 [00:07:39] All right. Thank you. Uhm. All right, so, uh, uhm, you touched on some of these things, uh, just in your responses earlier, but I just want to ask you again, just to be sure. Uhm. So for you, what are the most important things in a relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:07:56] Would be probably, you know, good communication. Uhm, you know, a genuine enjoying seeing each other. Uhm, like a good relationship. I know just you have fun with each other is also a big one. You just are excited to be with the other person.

Speaker 1 [00:08:17] All right. Uhm, why would you say these are the three most important things?

Speaker 2 [00:08:25] Uhm, because I think, you know, a lot of relationships are never going to be perfect. So I think for the most part, you'll always hit, you know, patches where things aren't as good as you want to be. But if you have those couple of things where, you know, good communication, just at least talk through the problem. You still enjoy seeing each other, that you can make it through most anything at that point.

Speaker 1 [00:08:49] All right. Okay. So for you, for next question, for you, what is love?

Speaker 2 [00:09:00] Uhm, I would say. Love is uh. I know it's a feeling of just wanting to see the other person. It's a different feeling than, you know, wanting to see a friend or want to say, it's just that's some. I think it's a feeling of you wanting to see that person every night.

Speaker 1 [00:09:24] All right? Yeah, definitely. So how important is love in the relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:09:32] Uh, I think it's probably the only important thing. You know, at the end of the day, even if you had everything perfectly healthy, if you don't love each other, I think it's more of uh, you know, for out of necessity. And that's not a very good relationship.

Speaker 1 [00:09:49] All right. Oh. All right. So. Okay. So how do you know that your partner loves you?

Speaker 2 [00:10:02] She she shows me, uhm and a lot of the things she does, things that she says. It's the small things, you know, for a long time. Uhm. For example, I would I lived kind of long distance. I lived in [City B] doing work, and I would come down every week and I would probably come down super late at night. And even if I were there, you know, midnight or 1:00 am, she was almost always up waiting for me, though the small things she, uh, you know, can go visit me at work. It's. It's also, I think, kind of just a feeling like a mutual, you know.

Speaker 1 [00:10:41] Yeah. Okay. Uhm, so I guess what would you say are the challenges in your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:10:50] Challenges. I don't know about. And I don't know anything specific I can think of. I think for the, you know. Pretty standard. You know, every once in a while when we do get into an argument, you know, like most people kind of want to walk away. Sometimes we do that. That's something, you know, getting better at communication would be. But for the most part, we always end up figuring everything out, which is the good part.

Speaker 1 [00:11:21] All right. All right. So, that being said, do you and your partner ever fight?

Speaker 2 [00:11:29] Yeah, yeah. I mean, you know, I feel like everybody comes into an argument. I think for the most part, as long as you're in the argument and it's not disrespectful and it's constructive and you know, you're not taking cheap shots at the other person, you know, focusing, you know, on your own feelings of a situation and the other person's as well. I think that's fine. I think we do a good job at that. But yeah, no, we would fight pretty much like every, you know, average couple does. Not often, which is a good thing.

Speaker 1 [00:12:01] Yeah, definitely. Uhm, so I guess what would you say these fights are about?

Speaker 2 [00:12:09] Uh, honestly, it's always something. Irrelevant. Something like stupid. You know, it's nothing usually ever to do with a relationship. Sometimes it's a disagreement. And, you know, we'll argue about how somebody said something or something like that, but no. Nothing really. It's never about something big, which is, pretty good. Saying it's usually just small disagreements that, you know, just get a heated debate over.

Speaker 1 [00:12:35] Okay. Okay. So, aside from, you know, your resolution or response, I know you mentioned earlier about communication. What are other ways you maintain your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:12:51] Uhm, so we talk. We talk all the time. We find ways to talk to each other. We don't live in the same house or city. So, you know, we make it work. Uhm, especially when I used to live in [City B]. We play, you know, our video game together every night. We. I call her on my way to work. We'll text here and there when I'm at work, you know, send each other [videos]. So we just, you know, find ways to communicate here and there. We understand that each both of us are super busy and, you know, here and there we can't always reply immediately, but we usually talk to each other a good amount of the day. Just check in.

Speaker 1 [00:13:29] All right. Uhm. Would you. Uh. Would you say that the relationship is good for you and why?

Speaker 2 [00:13:37] Yes, I would say it's good for me. It definitely gives me. Honestly, I feel like it gives me something to look forward to, something to work on. Like something to work for. If, for example, my job is very, you know, very long hours, it's pretty sucks in a lot of ways, but it gives good money. And I like to save up for an apartment for me and my girlfriend, you know, a house one day, etc., etc. it's good for me. It keeps me, you know. You know it. I know she makes me happy. So I think that's pretty much the most important part.

Speaker 1 [00:14:15] All right. That's good. Yeah. Thank you. So that being said, uh, do you think the relationship changed you? If so, in what way?

Speaker 2 [00:14:26] I would say so. Uhm. I think I was a lot more impulsive before I met my girlfriend. Uhm. You know, I kind of. I don't know. I think she just made me a little more mature, made me, you know, helps me focus, keeps me, you know looking at impor-. Keeps me think about big things in life. I think before her I didn't really do a lot of that.

Speaker 1 [00:14:58] All right. Uhm. What about your partner? Did she change during the relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:15:05] I wouldn't say, uhm, she changed very much. She's actually a lot same as the person I first met. But, uhm, she's definitely matured a little bit, you know, uhm, grown as a person, gotten definitely more confident in herself, which is good.

Speaker 1 [00:15:21] All right. Okay. Uhm. Do you feel safe in your relationship? And why would you say so?

Speaker 2 [00:15:34] I would say I feel safe. Uhm. We've been together a very long time, and, you know, I know she feels the same way I do. And we talk about the future, uh, a lot. So, you know, I believe we're very much on the same page, which makes me feel safe.

Speaker 1 [00:15:51] All right. Can you give me examples of this kind of safety?

Speaker 2 [00:15:59] Uhm. Like, in moments she've made me feel safe?

Speaker 1 [00:16:02] Yes.

Speaker 2 [00:16:05] Uhm. Well, you know, for example, there was one time we had a pretty big, you know, disagreement, argument and kind of ended. We just didn't want to talk to each other at that time. Not for a long time, but it was over that night. And then, you know, the next day, we didn't really talk much. And I got off work, came home, and she was waiting at my house to surprise me. That was a good moment for me. It made me definitely say, you know, we're arguing, we're not really talking right now. And she made the drive down to come and see me. That's a definitely a bonus.

Speaker 1 [00:16:36] All right. Thank you. Okay, so for this next question, uhm, I'm going to present you, uh, two questions here. Uhm. I'm going to share my screen real quick. Uhm. All right, hold on. Let me just hold that. Okay. Uhm. So. Alright. You should be able to see my screen here. I'm going to show, have you, two statements here. I want you to rate your partner on them. The first one is, my partner usually really listens to me. On a scale of 1 to 9, one being not at all true, at nine being completely true. How would you rate your girlfriend?

Speaker 2 [00:17:32] I would probably put her at, you know, seven and a half.

Speaker 1 [00:17:35] Seven and a half. All right. For number two. The second question. My partner is usually responsive to my needs, on the same thing, on a scale of 1 to 9. How would you rate your girlfriend?

Speaker 2 [00:17:50] I would usua-, I would probably do eight.

Speaker 1 [00:17:52] All right. So, I'm gonna stop sharing real quick. So I know for item one, you gave her seven and a half, and for the second one, you gave her eight. So for the first question, regarding her, uhm, uh, you know, "my partner usually really listens to me". Uhm. Can you, why did you give her 7.5?

Speaker 2 [00:18:20] Uhm. Nothing specific, I think. You know, everybody kind of had room to grow, so I don't think I'd pretty much put anybody at nine. No, honestly, I'd probably put myself even lower, and I try. You know, so, uhm, I would just say, you know. You know, sometimes when we, you know, get into disagreement, sometimes it's over. It's not my you know, it's not how I felt about a certain situation. I don't think she fully understood, you know why, why I was feeling, you know, she definitely comes in, you know, we come to an agreement about it. You know, everything resolves itself. Uhm. But sometimes I don't feel like she understood the exact reason why. That's why I probably put it there.

Speaker 1 [00:19:01] Okay. Oh. Oh. Okay. That was weird. Alright. So. Uhm. That being said, I know you gave us seven and a half. Why not seven or why not eight?

Speaker 2 [00:19:17] Uhm. I'm not sure. I think, I would probably put anybody at eight because nobody would probably be nine. I think everybody, you know, kind of has room to grow. But for those specific situations, sometimes I'd probably put 7.5. All honesty, she'd probably she'd fit in eight just as well. It's just you know, that range.

Speaker 1 [00:19:35] All right. So you would put her, you know, you would put her at eight. But you know, there's some examples. Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:19:41] Yeah. Just just specific situations. I think overall she does definitely listen to me. I think only the time she doesn't, I wouldn't necessarily blame her. It's just, you know, in the moment sometimes she gets very flustered, which I can understand that it kind of would lead to that, which is fine. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:20:00] All right. So for number two "my partner usually is responsive to my needs. You gave your girlfriend an eight. Uhm. Why eight?

Speaker 2 [00:20:12] Uhm. Like I said, you know, I think everybody would probably be around eight. Uhm. I think needs would kind of fall into my eyes like the first one. She really listens to me. So same, like, kind of situation this time that like I would like to really feel her to resolve that situation. But you know, actually I probably put in more like eight and a half, but just in that situation, that's why I'd kind of knock her down a little bit.

Speaker 1 [00:20:36] Okay. That's fine. Uhm. That being said, I guess it's the same question you gave for eight and a half. Like, why not seven and a half or 8 or 9? I know you mentioned 9, but why specifically 8?

Speaker 2 [00:20:54] Uhm. Probably just cause, you know. Well, she's very responsive to my needs. It's just when, what she doesn't know sometimes, you know. If she knows about it, she's very responsive. You know, that's kind of where I'm coming from there. If she knows about it, but there's sometimes she just doesn't really pick up on it or doesn't really know. But that is a very rare time. So in all honesty, just cause we're bringing it up, that's probably why I knocked it down a bit, but I wouldn't have even probably thought of it otherwise. It's not a lot of times, but you know.

Speaker 1 [00:21:24] Okay. Yeah. That's fine. Okay. So, uhm, I hope you don't mind if I ask. And feel free to say if this is too sensitive for you to share. But I also wanted to know more about your, y'all's, physical intimacy as a couple. Uhm. These days, how often do you guys have sex?

Speaker 2 [00:21:45] Uhm. We probably have sex every time we see each other. So, you know, I am working. I work from, you know, [schedule]. So, probably be those two days out of the week. If not, probably, you know, so 2 or 3 times those days. And then if we see each other during the week when I'm working, it's probably one, sometimes two, so I'd put four, probably around there.

Speaker 1 [00:22:18] Oh so, four, you'd say four times a week.

Speaker 2 [00:22:19] Yeah, yeah. It's just it's pretty much every time we see each other and that's around the amount of times we see each other. It does vary, but usually, you know, during the week, I get home at 10 p.m. She's at school. So, she goes, she goes to her house and I go to mine.

Speaker 1 [00:22:35] All right. Uhm. So, how satisfied are you with your sex life right now?

Speaker 2 [00:22:41] I would say I'm very satisfied. Uhm. We have a very healthy sex life and, you know, obviously both pretty attracted to each other, and there's no hate in each other. So, you know, everything goes. We're pretty happy with each other.

Speaker 1 [00:22:56] All right. Uhm. And you'd say that this is probably the reason why, this is probably the reason why you're satisfied with your sex life.

Speaker 2 [00:23:08] Yeah. Overall, I mean, there's just nothing really for me to knock. You know, bet she's. I think we're pretty, I think we're both very happy with it. You know, we see each other every time we, we do it every time we can, for the most part. So, yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:23:23] Okay. Do you think it's important in a relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:23:29] Yes. Yes. Uhm. I think, you know, sometimes it just kind of, for me, it's an act of love. You know, some people, it's not necessarily the same, but I think if you love the other person, uhm, it kind of drives you to do it more. So kind of makes you, you know, happy about it. It's just a good thing, it's healthy overall.

Speaker 1 [00:23:52] All right. Okay. So for the next question, I do want to show you maybe two more slides. Uhm. Let's see. Yeah. There you go. All right. So, in this slide over here, we do have one, basically one question for you and you can kind of relate your, uh, rate your relationship, uhm, from completely dissatisfied to completely satisfied. How satisfied are you with your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:24:27] I would put completely satisfied.

Speaker 1 [00:24:28] Completely satisfied. Okay. Uhm. So, you said completely satisfied. So on a scale of 0 to 10, how would you rate your satisfaction with your relationship? Zero means not at all satisfied. Ten means you are completely satisfied.

Speaker 2 [00:24:48] I would put ten.

Speaker 1 [00:24:51] Ten. All right.

Speaker 2 [00:24:52] I'd put ten.

Speaker 1 [00:24:55] You said, okay, so can you explain to me why did you, why did you give the relationship ten?

Speaker 2 [00:25:01] I would give it a ten, uhm, just because the, uhm, overall, everything in our relationship, there's nothing that really makes me unhappy. Every single relationship out there, you know, it doesn't matter. Been together [1-5] years or [46-50], I think end of the day, everything's got things to work on. But as long as you're, you have the important basis of the relationship, I think, you know, there's no reason not to be satisfied. I can't really think of anything that would make me, uh, give anything lower than a ten.

Speaker 1 [00:25:35] All right if you. So basically if you have like those things you mentioned earlier, like the base, the base of the relationship.

Speaker 2 [00:25:41] Exactly. I think that's what really makes you happy with relationship. Uhm. If, you have to really expect that, you know, nothing is going to be perfect. You're always going to have trouble. And that's part of growing as a person. That's the growing process. But I think you grow in the right direction if you had the right roots.

Speaker 1 [00:26:00] All right. Sounds good. Uhm. I kinda asked the similar question before. You gave her a ten. Why did she not get nine? Or why did your relationship not get nine?

Speaker 2 [00:26:11] Because, you know, if we're asking about specific, like, hey, you know, in my eyes, like, does she, was she responsive to every need? I would say, you know, specifically it's asking about, like, if there was a problem. Of course there's always going to be some. So that's why I would put there. But in terms of satisfaction, you know, I, I'm completely satisfied. You know, even when there's a problem, I have no problem talking through it and working it out. Doesn't. Uh. Doing that doesn't make me unhappy in the relationship. It shows that we're working at it.

Speaker 1 [00:26:44] Okay. Uhm. Did the relationship fulfill your expectations?

Speaker 2 [00:26:50] Yes.

Speaker 1 [00:26:52] Okay.

Speaker 2 [00:26:53] Yes. I would say yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:26:56] Okay. So we are close to wrapping up. Uhm. I would just like to summarize what we've conversed in the past hour. Uhm. So let's see. Uhm. Just to clarify, you're [21-25] years old. You guys have been together for [1-5] years. Uhm. You live with your family, particularly parents and sister. Uhm. I know you mentioned that you're trying to move in with your girlfriend. Uhm. You are a [Job Title]. Uhm. You guys kind of saw each other during track. Uhm. After winter break, track started. Uhm. And she told you that story about the sunglasses. And basically, you guys kind of just got closer together through [Social Media], video games, and other examples. You asked her to be your girlfriend. Uhm. You mentioned high quality relationships have. Uhm. They basically, you basically, your relationship seems to be better than your friends' relationships. Theirs didn't really last very long. Uhm. Your relationship with your girlfriend now is a lot better than the past two girlfriends you've had. Uhm. High quality relationships, basically, you mentioned enjoy seeing each other, and you mentioned good communication. Uhm. Low quality is basically when, pretty much the opposite. You guys argue all the time. Uhm. And let's see. Important things in the relationship include good communication and having fun with each other and wanting to see each other. Uhm. You know, relationships aren't going to be perfect. Uhm. Love is basically just wanting to see the other person, and it's different with loving your partner compared to loving a friend. Uhm. Love is the most important thing. You mentioned that she shows how she loves you with the small things. You would say challenges. Not really that much challenges apart from the one, the average everyday arguments. Uhm. There are fights, but none of those fights seem to be a big deal. Uh. Communication seems to be the best way you guys resolve. Uhm. Relationship is good for you, and it changed you. It also changed her in the sense that I see both of you guys have matured, and she became a little bit more confident. Uhm. Let's see. You said you feel safe. Uhm. I know I asked two questions about her listening to you and responding to, uh, your needs. She got 7.5 and eight. Uhm. Although, to be honest, you mentioned you would rate her higher. Uhm. You mentioned your sex life is good. You say that every time you see each other, and that could be at around four times a week. Uhm. Satisfied with your sex life. You mentioned you're completely satisfied with the relationship and you couldn't really ask for more, and that it fulfilled your expectations. Okay. That being said, was there anything you wanted to add to this?

Speaker 2 [00:30:24] That, that would be about it. You know, it sounds pretty good. You know, I think for the most part, everything in my relationship is pretty great.

Speaker 1 [00:30:34] All right. That's good. Okay. So thank you so much. Uhm. But before we end, I want to talk to you about how we will handle the data. Uhm. As a research project, we want to be as ethically transparent as possible. And so we want that. So I wanted to know, which data sharing option you'd be comfortable with. Uhm. So, option one is that transcript portions can be shared. Excuse me. Uhm. Option one is that transcript portions can be shared, none of which can be identified to you. So the de-identified transcript can also be read by other researchers. Or option two, if you are bolder, another option is that the whole transcript can be shared or removed of sensitive and overly identifying details, so it will be anonymized. Although in this option, there's a very minimal chance that someone who knows you well can piece together the details in the transcript and narrow down among their colleagues who they believe it is. Although, once again, uhm, we're not gonna, no sensitive information, no sensitive information will be shared. Uhm. Of the two options, which are you more comfortable with?

Speaker 2 [00:31:54] So, uh, the first one is sharing the information without my name?

Speaker 1 [00:31:59] Oh, okay. So, basically option. So basically option one is basically, uh, just transcript portions will be shared. Nothing will be identified to you. Uhm. While, option two is the whole transcript can be shared or removed. All the, the whole transcript will be shared, but it will remove, uhm, any, any information that could tie it to you. Uhm. So either option, uhm the, we will basically remove any information that could directly tie anything to you.

Speaker 2 [00:32:29] Okay. Uhm. Yeah. Option two sounds fine. Yeah. Sounds fine to me.

Speaker 1 [00:32:35] All right. Sounds good. Uhm. So thank you so much again for participating in this study. I would like you to know that this is also being done in the Philippines, Brazil, Turkey, France and the United States. Uhm. So for this study to be successful, there's also one more thing that we, I want to ask you, if that's fine. Uhm. Can you recommend to close people in your life as a nominator? We would ask them for additional couples that might be interested in this study, but we'll be asking them for couples that you don't know or people that you don't interact with. Uhm. This way we can get as diverse and network as we can get. Uhm. Would that be fine for you?

Speaker 2 [00:33:22] Yeah. So, like, what, I recommend to you guys to people who know couples who might..

Speaker 1 [00:33:28] Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:33:29] ..refer some people? Uhm.

Speaker 1 [00:33:30] Yes. So basically, uhm, the idea. So basically the idea is, is that, uhm, there are just certain couples that we need for the study. Uhm. So, for example, do, if you, if you know someone or if you know, if you know someone or if you know a couple who is, who has been together for like 5 to 10 years, they're low, they're not, they have low satisfaction. Their income is low to median. Uhm. If you know a couple that fits that, uhm, or if you know someone who knows someone, that could count. We could also do, uh, couples that have been together for 10 to 20 years. They're, they have low satisfaction and have low to median income. Uhm. We could also do, maybe couples who have been together for 20 or more years. They have low satisfaction, but they have median to high income. Or if, you know, uhm, any LGBT couple, uhm, it doesn't matter how long they've been together if they're LGBT. Uhm. But, uh, we're looking for LGBT couples that are low satisfaction and have low to median income. Do you think you know anyone who fits that category?

Speaker 2 [00:34:50] Yeah. Uhm. Off the top of my head, I don't think so. I think all my friends have been together a lot less than five years. Uhm. Uh. I'll do some thinking, though. If I do think of anybody, I can have [Girlfriend] email them over to you.

Speaker 1 [00:35:03] All right. Okay. Yeah, we do, we do appreciate that. If you do, if you guys do find something, uhm, let us know. All right. Uhm. And if you do let us know, please let them know that we will be contacting them whenever, if you can ever find some. Uhm. And if you could give them a heads up that way they don't block me.

Speaker 2 [00:35:26] All right.
