

Speaker 1 [00:00:00] So. And so thanks again for participating in this interview. Um like I mentioned before, we kind of just wanted more of your views and um insights on like romantic relationships. And we believe that your experience and perspective could bring a lot to the project. So um yeah, so it's okay. It's okay with you for us to be recording and everything. We're just going to be using the transcripts and the notes.

Speaker 2 [00:00:29] Perfect.

Speaker 1 [00:00:31] So before we get started, just a little bit of information on yourself. Um so how old are you?

Speaker 2 [00:00:37] I am [20-25].

Speaker 1 [00:00:39] Okay. And then how long have you been with your partner?

Speaker 2 [00:00:45] [0-5] years. What is it? August 18 or 19?--

Speaker 1 [00:00:50] Yeah 19.

Speaker 2 [00:00:52] [0-5] years and [5-10] days.

Speaker 1 [00:00:55] Okay. Do you have any children?

Speaker 2 [00:00:57] Well, no. Sorry. No, no.

Speaker 1 [00:01:00] Okay uh, who lives in your household?

Speaker 2 [00:01:05] Um. I live with my older brother, his mom and my older brother's girlfriend.

Speaker 1 [00:01:15] Okay. And um what's your main source of income?

Speaker 2 [00:01:21] My job. Is that yeah? that's yeah?

Speaker 1 [00:01:24] Yeah. So what, what is your current job?

Speaker 2 [00:01:28] Oh,um I work at [company].

Speaker 1 [00:01:34] Okay

Speaker 2 [00:01:35] Yeah

Speaker 1 [00:01:36] Okay and so for the rest of the interview. How would you like us to address your partner? Like partner, girlfriend? Whatever. How do you want to talk about her.

Speaker 2 [00:01:45] No, she my girlfriend, she she my boo thing, you know.

Speaker 1 [00:01:48] Okay, girlfriend. Okay, so now you get to just have like a little storytime and I listen.

Speaker 2 [00:02:02] Oh, okay.

Speaker 1 [00:02:03] Okay Yeah. So can you tell me about your love story?

Speaker 2 [00:02:11] So how it started? I'm assuming.

Speaker 1 [00:02:13] Yeah. So when did you guys meet? And, like, kind of, like, from there.

Speaker 2 [00:02:17] Gotcha. Um So I've actually. Yeah, I've been knowing [partner's name] ever since, think I want to say, like [2010-2015] or [2010-2015]. Something along those well I've knew of her and not necessarily I knew how she was but I always saw her around because my best friends, [friend 1], [friend 2] and [friend 3], they all worked at [workplace] and she worked at [workplace]. So I would see her around, but I would never interact with her in that instance just because, like, I mean, I didn't want to be a weirdo or anything, you know, like, just. But um, so I always knew of her. I always thought she was cute even back then, you know. Um, then it wasn't until we went to a rave, like, I think it's like [2015-2020] [August-December] or something like that. We went to a rave. We just vibed together and that's that's kind of how we started. At the moment, if I'm being honest with you, I wasn't necessary like super serious on having more of a relationship or anything like that. [Redacted], but um it wasn't until I met [partner's name] that I'm like, Nah, dude, I want to be with [partner's name], you know, like [partner's name] showed me she was wifey material even back then. Like she we've had an aura around her that she was like, down to earth, really, like, about everything. And just like, she was wifey material.

Speaker 1 [00:04:06] Yeah. That's nice.

Speaker 2 [00:04:13] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:04:14] Okay. So we're going to get into some questions. If you want like clarification on anything, just let me know. Okay? Okay. How would you compare the quality of your relationship compared to that of like your friends' relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:04:31] Um. See, the thing is, it's like I'm trying to think of other people's relationships and If I'm being honest with you I can only think of, like, older people or like at our our friends, [friend 4] and [friend 5]. I mean, if we're comparing ours to them, I feel like you know we're better in the sense that we I mean we do fight here and there right, but like every other couple us.

Speaker 1 [00:05:06] Yeah

Speaker 2 [00:05:07] But I don't necessarily think we're too dramatic in the sense of like we try to show um everything that's going on. We don't try to tell everybody what's going on, we try to tell sometimes but her and I. That's how I see it anyways. But yeah, I mean, I think. I think we're good. We love each other and I think confidentiality is, is a good thing for our relationship because like, our business is our business at the end of the day. And Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:05:50] Yeah. Okay. And so before you know your girlfriend right now, can I also ask how many romantic partners you've had before, like in the past?

Speaker 2 [00:06:10] Um...I wanna say [5-10], [5-10]. Well yeah, [5-10] [5-10].

Speaker 1 [00:06:16] Okay, So how would you compare the quality of your relationship compared to those previous relationships?

Speaker 2 [00:06:30] Um See, it's the quality part that trips me up. It's like I think. Overall. I mean, I've I've been in this relationship with [partner's name] for [0-5] years now. My longest relationship before this was like, maybe like [0-5] or [0-5]. No, I wouldn't say like [0-6] months. So. Just based off of that, you can tell like we're both in it to to like to be together forever in that sense that, like we keep fighting to be in this relationship because that's what our relationship is. I think at the end of the day, we have to fight for each other's love. And then also in the sense that like if she doesn't feel 100%, she doesn't have to. I can just you know, go 120 if she's missing like 20% or whatever you know. But overall, I'd say that our relationship quality is way better than what I or whatever else I've ever had in my life.

Speaker 1 [00:07:44] And you say that that's because, like you guys been together longer than you guys, like, fight for it to keep, keep going?

Speaker 2 [00:07:52] Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:07:56] All right. So, to continue off of like the quality parts. So like for you, what makes a relationship like high quality and what makes it like low quality?

Speaker 2 [00:08:10] Um. High quality would be... In a sense um like, low maintenance in the in the sense of like she doesn't have to like, fully try to like, win my love and I don't have to fully try to win her love. Like we have each other's love right there. Like we love each other. Right. So it's not like we have to like, you know, go 110% only on like, special occasions, you know, is how I'd say, like anniversaries or birthdays. But like, like I think what makes our relationship high quality is that on it, like today we're just chillin or not probably not going to do anything. Just awesome because I'm sick. Right. But we're probably not going to do anything, which is probably going to be here. Just chill, enjoy each other's presence. Probably watch movies. As opposed to like, a low quality. I feel like, in the sense that you have to, like, really try to grab the other person's attention all the time. like kind of that type of way, like you're fighting for their love. Like I remember in a relationship I had before, I didn't feel like... I had love. So I kept like, wanting more of it. But that's what made it low quality, in my opinion, because I kept trying to get like the satisfaction of having that person's love and yeah. Yeah. Let me get some water--

Speaker 1 [00:09:56] So you would say, yeah. So you would say, like compared to that one, there's kind of more like reciprocation than the one you're in right now.

Speaker 2 [00:10:05] Um give me a sec

Speaker 1 [00:10:06] Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:10:14] Sorry can you ask that again.

Speaker 1 [00:10:17] Yeah cause um, so just based on like what you were comparing like high and low, like you would say that there's more like reciprocation, like in the one that you're in right now. Like you don't have to really fight for anything. It's kind of just like there. Yeah, yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:10:31] Yeah, yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:10:40] So. Can you tell me more about how, like, someone knows that, like they're in a relationship? That like is like low maintenance in the way that you explained it.

Speaker 2 [00:10:56] Yeah. Like, in the sense of like... Um I know that we're in a low maintenance relationship because she can just come here like. Well, actually, let me say this. Let me say this. You know, we do occasionally go out, right? But, um, when I work the, like, the weekend nights, right? Like, all we would do would just chill, not do much, just hang out. Right. And I think that's... How can I say this... How can I say this... Yeah so we wouldn't really, you know, like necessarily do much. And I think that that just really what low maintenance is, is like you don't necessarily have to like try you know, you don't necessarily have to like give it all your effort. I think we would just chill, you know, hang out, laugh, make fun of each other because that's what we like to do but like, like in a playful type of way. And then. Yeah, I think that answer your question. I hope.

Speaker 1 [00:12:18] It did. So when is there ever a moment where, like, it wasn't like that?

Speaker 2 [00:12:28] Um. Yeah, I think in the beginning, like. You know, there's obviously that that that dating stage where you're actually not like "together" yet you now, I'm putting air quotes, you know. I think in that stage that's one like we both either try to, like, really just engage and put like a, like a persona of who you're not really. Like, I can tell you, for me, in the beginning, I was like, Oh, you know, like, I want to go hiking. I'd like to go hiking. And I know she likes to go hiking. I knew she liked to go hiking because of her posts or whatever like. But then after I went, I was like, Yeah, this isn't for me. So I was trying to like, you know. Um. Like. I guess in the beginning I was trying to be a person that I wasn't fully. I was trying to explore kind of like, what's the word I'm looking for? Um...assimilate to her likings, I guess. But now, I mean. I think we're pretty content with, with life. We like to hang out, you know, go to the gym. We like some things the same, but we also don't like other things the same. So I mean, but you know, not no one is perfect. No, no relationship is perfect in that sense.

Speaker 1 [00:14:05] Yeah. So for you, what are the most important things in a relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:14:17] Um. Communication, honesty and respect.

Speaker 1 [00:14:32] When would you say that you had good communication? Since you mentioned it.

Speaker 2 [00:14:41] Um. Damn that's a good question. Um. Well, technically, I mean, on a technical sense, you can kind of say any time you talk about what you're going to do, what are we going to do? You know, in that sort of sense, that's where communication goes on. Like. Like, let's say if she were to go out with her friends or whatever, and, you know, she just she just telling me what she's doing and how she's doing. It's not necessarily like I try to like, peer into like, hey you know I might go over there or whatever, but I just want to know she's safe. So that's, I think, like a form of communication in that sense.

Speaker 1 [00:15:27] So, like, completely like why do you think communication is important? Like it could be various reasons to you. But like, so why do you think it's important?

Speaker 2 [00:15:40] I think without. I think without communication... I think I think communication is basically the sole foundation of the relationship, because if you don't have communication, it's like, what are you guys even doing? If that makes sense.

Speaker 1 [00:16:07] Yeah yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:16:08] I'm just trying to think in the aspect of like. You know, it hasn't it hasn't happened to me personally but like I know a few friends who like, who were in a... In a situationship with with this other person right. But, they would like text like super off like they would like talk like once a day. Like, not even like. But it was like super brief, super nothing. And it's like this this other person has like a different, like different life and you don't even know, like, what's happening in their lives. And it's like, you know, really, um "aportando".

Speaker 1 [00:16:53] Mm hmm.

Speaker 2 [00:16:54] Yeah. So they're like, you're just a random person who's probably like, their fuck buddy. Yeah

Speaker 1 [00:17:01] Yeah. And so. For you. My next question is what is love?

Speaker 2 [00:17:20] Love is complicated, I'll tell you that. Love is... I don't, I wouldn't say it's to some extent, it is a feeling, but it's also a commitment, if that makes sense.

Speaker 1 [00:17:42] Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:17:44] Because, you can still love a person, but or sorry no. Well, okay. You can still like the idea of a person can still love the idea of having someone. But I think, like true love in the sense is where, like, even when you're mad at this person, like an hour later, you know, it all goes away. Like you put your pride away or you put you know your ego aside for them. Because at the end of the day, you still want to be with them and you still love who they are as a person, you know? Yeah, maybe. Maybe you don't like the decision they make in the moment, but, you know. You still love them? You still. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:18:35] Yeah. Okay. And then how important is love in a relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:18:46] Uh, I mean, I think that's a relationship is at the end of the day. You know, have love in a relationship. It's just what is it at that point you know? It's or is it just fuckbuddies? Is it just. Yeah. I don't know.

Speaker 1 [00:19:09] And then how do you know that your girlfriend loves you?

Speaker 2 [00:19:19] Oh, uhm. There's been so many times that, that I push her away and she still comes back. Or like, well I'm going through this thing, you know, I'm going through like something in court. And, you know, when she found out what was going on or what was going on because well I told her what was going on, she's still there, like I think. Another person would just simply like, just be like, oh, that's your problem you know? But she has always been there for me. She continues to be there for me like she always goes to court with me. You know, she's always there. She literally just trying to support me in every way she can. She's also helping me financially. Because, of court, like I had to go through some major costs. But yeah, she's always been there, like she sacrifices a lot and it doesn't go unnoticed.

Speaker 1 [00:20:36] But I also wanted to ask, what would you say are challenges in your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:20:52] I think the challenge is... Sometimes you don't see eye to eye in certain things. Like I think I'm more of a person who likes, not necessarily control over her, but I just like control in general. Like in the sense of like. Like I kind of want to make decisions, but then she's very spontaneous and she likes to like to do things on a whim out of nowhere. Right? With that's that's it's never been in me to do something spontaneous. I'm more of a like, you know, like I, like. Let let me phrase it in this way that like, let's say we were to go to swim or she wanted to go on a swim, she would literally just go in. While me I'm just going to put a foot in first, then put the other into the sense. Yeah, I hope that was a good analogy.

Speaker 1 [00:22:04] Yeah it was

Speaker 2 [00:22:06] Yeah. Yeah

Speaker 1 [00:22:07] Okay. So do you and your partner ever, like, fight? I feel like you think you mentioned just like the eye to eye thing.

Speaker 2 [00:22:20] Yeah. I mean. If you do this thing and somebody tells you that they don't fight, I'mma be nah, they're lying to you bro. Every couple fights. But yeah, we do you know we don't see eye to eye sometimes. And she is spontaneous and she can be stubborn, so, um and then I can also be stubborn. So sometimes we just butt heads and that sense of like, you know, I'm like, Oh, you know, that's not a wise decision to do that. Well, she's more like, oh I don't care. You know, it'd be fun. I don't care this and that, like. I'm just you know, I can say from my end that I want to be more of a cautious person. Well, yeah. She doesn't necessarily care, too.

Speaker 1 [00:23:15] And then how long do your fights last?

Speaker 2 [00:23:19] Like less than a day. Typically. Like...like small fights. I would say like 2 hours. Some like major ones, probably like, five, six. Before the night ends, before one of us goes to sleep then we like try to talk it out. Yeah

Speaker 1 [00:23:47] Yeah. How often would you say that these happen?

Speaker 2 [00:24:01] Um...I'm not sure. It's. It depends honestly it's more like, I'd say like once or twice a month maybe. Yeah, but it just depends on like other factors are going on. It just really depends. Sometimes, you know, we're like really good for like a long time. And other times, you know, we could have like multiple in like [1-5] weeks or so, like, I don't know, like five fights in two weeks or whatever. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:24:45] So how do you guys usually resolve your fight?

Speaker 2 [00:24:54] Um, well. It's all about meeting in the middle, I think. We usually resolve them by either she talks to me first or I talk to her first. You know, just try to say hello, and then you know we try to you know apologize for what went wrong. You know, if she thinks it was her fault or if I think it was my fault, then you know we try to apologize and then try to be like I know I shouldn't have done that in that sense and then. What else? What else do we do? Yeah, we apologize. We try to meet in the middle and oh then we also be like, Oh, you know, maybe I could have done or I could have said this differently and then. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:25:57] So aside from like meeting in the middle, what are other ways that you guys kind of been maintaining your relationship? For the past [0-5] years.

Speaker 2 [00:26:08] Um. Can you rephrase that?

Speaker 1 [00:26:17] Okay. So, like, we're talking about, like, you know, conflicts, you know challenges and then you were talking about how to kinda resolve that. You guys can meet in the middle and like apologize. So like, aside from that, what are other ways that you guys kind of have been like maintaining your relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:26:38] Gotcha. Um...Well, there's always common ground, I think, in our relationship. We we like to go to the gym. We like to be fit. We like to you know, we like almost the same things. We're culturally the same in the sense that you know we're both [ethnicity]. We're both [nationality], to be exact. So we we both like the same foods. We both like almost everything the same, except for like a few things in life. But, I think that's what just maintains it. Because if we're like two completely different people, then. We just we wouldn't meet, like, more eye to eye than what we do now. And then at that point, it's like we're not compatible in that sense.

Speaker 1 [00:27:40] Yeah. Yeah. Okay. So would you say that the relationship is good for you?

Speaker 2 [00:27:55] Yes.

Speaker 1 [00:27:57] Okay, so then why why yes.

Speaker 2 [00:28:00] Um... You know. I've had a phase where I would be a dog, you know, and I would, you know, go from person to person to kind of say it in that sense and it's not fun. Or Let me rephrase that, it can be fun, but it's not like, heartwarming. It's not, you know, like, you don't really feel what you feel in a relationship or or in this case, from my relationship with [partner's name]. Like it just feels like you're absent like you're not there when you're when you're trying to dog around. When you're in a in a relationship with someone you love and they love you. It's like, you can literally just cuddle with them and you feel at peace. You know, you can literally just laugh at them and you're feeling like you're the king of the world at that point. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:29:18] It's like you feel like within the relationship you've been able to like achieve your goals and kind of your day to day, things have been pretty good.

Speaker 2 [00:29:30] Um. I want to say yes.

Speaker 1 [00:29:36] Mm hmm.

Speaker 2 [00:29:36] But then there's other factors in life that can kind of, like, bring you down with it, you know, so. From my relationship aspect, I want to say yes. Just because she brings nothing but more better things into my life, right? But then life comes in, like I said earlier, with my court thing, it's kind of bringing not necessarily a relationship down, but me down. And it also, like affects her, obviously, because she's in there with me, you know? Yeah. I hope that was good, I think yeah yeah yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:30:19] Okay. Okay. So I know you kind of like briefly mentioned it already, but I just want to ask again, did the relationship change you, and if so, in like what way?

Speaker 2 [00:30:31] Yeah. I think before I was. I was more about my friends. I can kind of say I think I was more about my friends and just myself at the same time. So I didn't necessarily care about my family or like relatives like that. I think she has brought me like a whole sense of caring for other people. You can definitely say that I've changed in that way. I've always liked the gym, there's that so, well she's always liked the gym. So there's nothing really going on there. Honestly, I think I think that's really just it in that sense that I care for more people. I care for her family. You know, I care for her. At the end of the day, I just want her to do good in life in all aspects of life.

Speaker 1 [00:31:55] So what about your girlfriend? Did they change during the relationship?

Speaker 2 [00:32:04] Um. Yes, I think so... I think she was also the same way like she was about her friends and herself more. But I wouldn't say it's 100% because of me. I think also she graduated school, she graduated high--, wait I'm sorry college. So she kind of gained more wisdom in the sense, because also she's a [partner's major] major. She also kind of like grew to be more caring about her family as well. I think she didn't necessarily care so much about her family from what she has told me. But yeah, I think she's also like started to care way more about, you know, her parents, her older brother, who she really didn't like before then. And then she's always loves her little brother. But I think she also, like, has learned to love another person that then like, like be committed to them as well.

Speaker 1 [00:33:24] And then um...All right, so we're going to answer some questions really quick before I feel you actually. I'm going to end it here because we have like 3 minutes left and I don't want to cut you off in the middle of an explanation.

Speaker 2 [00:33:51] All right?

Speaker 1 [00:33:52] So give me like 2 minutes for it to to save and then just go back on the same link from the email.

Speaker 2 [00:33:58] All right.

Speaker 1 [00:33:59] Thank you.

Speaker 2 [00:34:00] Bye.

Speaker 1 [00:34:03] Oh, okay. So we're going to move on to another part. So we're going to talk about how safely you feel in your relationship.

Speaker 2 [00:34:18] Super safe.

Speaker 1 [00:34:21] Okay.

Speaker 2 [00:34:22] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:34:25] Um. Can you give us like, why you feel super safe?

Speaker 2 [00:34:30] Um. I'm thinking about, like, harm. I'm thinking about, I don't know if that's how you mean it. I mean, because. I mean.

Speaker 1 [00:34:36] I mean--

Speaker 2 [00:34:36] Cause I mean, it's it's it's, it's, it's all subjective, right? You can feel like emotionally. Um you can feel physically, but, I mean, I feel good. I feel safe. Um...I don't think [partner's name] would ever disrespect me by cheating on me or anything like that. That would hurt me. But like, physically, I mean, I can overpower her. So if she were to try to fight me or hit me or something like that I mean, obviously I'd take it but like I'd probably be like nah, like, try to push her away so she can stop hitting. But I, I think that's what you mean by that question.

Speaker 1 [00:35:23] Yeah, well, I mean, it's in any way that you kind of think it could be like way to things like physical or emotional and like, you kind of answered both.

Speaker 2 [00:35:36] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:35:23] Um. Relationship safety, kind of being like being able to like open up to your partner, that could also be like another part, like fear of judgment. Like if you have conflict and stuff.

Speaker 2 [00:35:49] Yah. Gotchu. Yeah. I mean, I feel super safe. I, I know that I can tell her anything. Then she wouldn't, like super judge me or um I think the only thing now that like. It's when I eat like unhealthy because she's like she's been trying to get me more healthy or she's been trying to get me to eat more healthy food that's working when I feel like a little bit judged. But everything else, I mean is okay.

Speaker 1 [00:36:27] Okay. So we're gonna go to the... to the pictures that I had previously mentioned.

Speaker 2 [00:36:39] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:36:42] So let me share my screen with you so you can see this. Can you see my screen?

Speaker 2 [00:36:56] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:36:57] Okay, let me make it bigger. Okay, so goes from 1 to 9 and then the scales are going to kind of like change as the questions go on. But for this one specifically, so it goes from one, not true, like not at all true to nine, completely true. And so the question is, my partner usually really listens to me, like, where would you kind of feel on this from like 1 to 9.

Speaker 2 [00:37:28] Um...I think in the middle, like five.

Speaker 1 [00:37:30] Five.

Speaker 2 [00:37:31] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:37:32] Okay. Can you like kind of give an example of like why five.

Speaker 2 [00:37:39] Um. I think this goes based on what I was telling you before about how she's more on the spontaneous end. Like she'll do things on a whim out of nowhere right. And I'm and I'm like, I'm trying to be the I guess I don't know if the good angel or the bad devil or whatever. Right. And just trying to, like, talk her out of it. And sometimes she don't listen in that sense. But there's other times where she does listen, right? And then like. And then since, you know, we have different schedules like I work grave shift, then she works during the day. We only have like a few moments of time where we can talk on the phone or whatever. Hold on. Sorry, give me one second.

Speaker 1 [00:38:41] Yeah.

Speaker 2 [00:38:42] My mom's calling me but um... what was I saying. So we have little moments of time right where we could, like, talk to each other. Like when we talk, we usually talk about our day, what what went on and stuff like that and she always asks questions, which makes me feel like she listens to me in that sense and yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:39:22] Okay. So going back to your answer, like why like a five and not like, you know, like an eight or nine or a one?

Speaker 2 [00:39:41] Um well, a one would be like she literally just doesn't listen to me like anything that I say. Just be like, nah, you know, that's how I feel one. An eight or nine it's like she's like, it'd be like, I don't want to be I don't want this to sound derogatory, but it'd be like if I owned a dog, you know, or like, let's say, like I owned, like, a pet of some sort, a cat. I'm like, Oh, come here, Kiki, you know, type of thing. And then doing as everything that I say or yeah, so I think five is good in the middle it's like or it is and yeah that's how I see it.

Speaker 1 [00:40:21] So the next question, the scale is still the same for this one. So the next question is my partner usually is responsive to my needs. Where would you kind of put yourself there?

Speaker 2 [00:40:47] Um...I want to say seven.

Speaker 1 [00:40:50] Seven?

Speaker 2 [00:40:51] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:40:53] Could you give an example like you did last time or like, why a seven?

Speaker 2 [00:41:05] Um...I think. I think it all goes within like the psychology and the trauma that a person has. You know, I think growing up I had a trauma where I was a little bit neglected in that sense. So I think that sometimes I can be clingy and sometimes she can be clingy in that sense. And in a sense, she's always there for me. So I think that's how she is responsive to me . It's like she'll be there for me and she'll like come over and just talk to me or like, you know, which is hanging out in that sense, You know, that's how I think she's responsive to my needs just by like, being here and, like, you know, just being the great person that she is making me laugh and stuff like that.

Speaker 1 [00:42:04] Okay.

Speaker 2 [00:42:06] Yeah. I wouldn't say it's a one just because, yeah. You want me to say that again?

Speaker 1 [00:42:16] Well. Well, since you said you wouldn't say a one like what would be, because, like, she's actually, like, there, you know?

Speaker 2 [00:42:23] Yeah, exactly. Like she's there, she's always there. She's, she literally, like, stop doing some things just for me sometimes.

Speaker 1 [00:42:32] Mhm. What, what kind of make it like a nine.

Speaker 2 [00:42:37] Um... Well, you know, there's like a few instances where, like, she can't be there for me. So just based off of that, like, there's been a few certain times if. Well, the question is usually is responsive. So I didn't really take that into consideration, but I guess it could be a nine. It could be a seven. Obviously, it could be within those three, if I'm being honest.

Speaker 1 [00:43:08] Okay.

Speaker 2 [00:43:10] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:43:11] Within a 7 to 9. Okay, cool. Okay, this one is no numbers. It's just the words on there. So how satisfied are you with your relationship? And it goes from completely dissatisfied to completely satisfied. So what kind of term would you say that your relationship would land on?

Speaker 2 [00:43:39] Out of curiosity, just just, just a question, just a question okay. Are people going to see my face and or hear my words.

Speaker 1 [00:43:51] No, this is your transcript. It's just the notes and stuff.

Speaker 2 [00:43:56] Oh okay okay, then I'll say completely dissatisfied. No I'm just messing with you. Now, anyways, I say very satisfied. It could be completely satisfied, but I just think that because of our schedule conflicts, that's where it kind of like could be a little bit better. I wish I could see her more often. I wish we could live with each other too, actually. But, you know, due to financial circumstances and, you know, stuff that's going on in my, in my life with like my court case. It's just it just makes it make things a little bit harder. For our relationship. Yeah

Speaker 1 [00:44:39] Okay, so this one kind of changes a little bit the scale from what we were looking at before. So it goes from zero, not at all satisfied to ten to completely satisfied. So how would you rate your satisfaction with your relationship? From a zero to a ten.

Speaker 2 [00:45:14] Um...Okay. Seven. Eight.

Speaker 1 [00:45:17] Seven. Eight.

Speaker 2 [00:45:21] Yeah I think, yeah, it's just it's the same answer that I'm gonna give you last time, just yeah, schedule conflicts really just messes with it.

Speaker 1 [00:45:32] Okay. And then so the question remains the same, but the scale just changes a little bit. So it goes from -10 to 0. So a negative ten would be that you're completely dissatisfied.

Speaker 2 [00:45:48] Yeah and then zero--

Speaker 1 [00:45:49] And then your zero would be that you're not at all dissatisfied. So where would you kind of land there?

Speaker 2 [00:45:55] A zero.

Speaker 1 [00:45:57] A zero, okay.

Speaker 2 [00:45:58] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:46:01] And now it's gonna to get bigger. So it goes from negative ten to completely dissatisfied or zero, which now is like neutral, like you're not satisfied or dissatisfied. It's kinda just there. Or ten would be completely satisfied. So on this scale, where would you kind of put yourself?

Speaker 2 [00:46:22] I'd say seven, eight, still same reasoning you know. Just work, you know, live together could. I well, I wish that I could have like a day shift like her and then we could see each other more often.

Speaker 1 [00:46:42] And I think that's the last for your pictures. So let me, go back to here. Okay, so that was that were the pictures. Okay we're going to go on to another topic. So I hope, I hope you don't mind if I ask, and you can feel free to say if it's too sensitive for you to share. But for the purposes of this research--

Speaker 2 [00:47:17] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:47:18] We also want to know more about your physical intimacy as a couple.

Speaker 2 [00:47:21] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:47:22] So these days, like, how often do you and like your partner have sex?

Speaker 2 [00:47:30] Did she answer your questions?

Speaker 1 [00:47:31] Huh?

Speaker 2 [00:47:32] Did she answer those, these?

Speaker 1 [00:47:35] This is, this your interview.

Speaker 2 [00:47:39] Alright, alright. No I mean, I mean I'm just I'm just asking. Um..

Speaker 1 [00:47:45] I'm just ask you how often. Yeah, you could think about it like within a span of, like, a week.

Speaker 2 [00:47:49] Yeah, like once or twice a week.

Speaker 1 [00:47:53] Okay. And how satisfied are you with your sex life?

Speaker 2 [00:48:04] On a scale of 1 to 10, can I say that.

Speaker 1 [00:48:06] Yeah, you can use that.

Speaker 2 [00:48:09] Um...I think I'm like a good, six or seven. I just wish we could do it more often. But when we do it, actually, it's fuckin, that shit goes bananas you know that goessorry sorry anyways. Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:48:36] Cool. Well. Okay, cool. So in general. You already answered this about like, how satisfied are you with your relationship? And you said, very satisfied, right?

Speaker 2 [00:48:52] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:48:53] And that kind of goes into schedule conflicts. But for the most part, everything else is like cool. So we're close to like wrapping up, so like I just want to give a brief summary of like our conversation so far. Oh, it seems like based off of like previous relationships, this one's kind of like shown you more of like, you know, mutual feelings and, like, respect, having, like the reciprocation of like, you know, that you know, that I love her. She loves me. You know, you guys show up for each other. You guys mentioned that, like, communication is like, good for, like, you guys, like, problem solving and that the fights don't even really, like, last that long anyways cause you guys do a pretty good job at, like, talking to each other. You have said communication, honesty and love were like one of like the high quality parts of the relationship. And like based off of like what you were saying it seems like you're able to meet most of the qualities you had mentioned in the beginning. You feel super safe and you're mostly satisfied with the relationship. Is that right?

Speaker 2 [00:50:17] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:50:30] Yeah. Is there anything else you'd like to add?

Speaker 2 [00:50:30] Um... Not really I think. I think the only thing is um... [partner's name] is a bad ass bitch. That's. That's what it is.

Speaker 1 [00:50:43] Okay, well, thank you. Before we like completely, completely finish up, I just want to give you like a data notice. Something about like your face and anything. I just want to give you the options to make sure that you know that your face isn't coming out. So I just want to talk about how we're going to handle the data. You know, as a research project, we want to be as ethically transparent as possible. So we want to let you know like which data sharing option you're most comfortable with. So we have two. The first option is the is that there's going to be like portions, like transcript portions can be shared and none of them identified to you. So the transcript could also be read by like other researchers. So it's like pieces of the transcript. That's for option one. Option two is like the whole transcript could be shared. But again, it removes like sensitive and over like identifying details to keep it anonymous. You know, although there's this option is a very, very, very minimal chance that someone who knows you can like piece together and be like, this is him.

Speaker 2 [00:51:55] Yeah.

Speaker 1 [00:51:56] You know, this is like a disclaimer, but no sensitive information will be shared. So those are two. Like the first option is like portions of it, and the second option is like the whole thing.

Speaker 2 [00:52:05] Two is fine.

Speaker 1 [00:52:06] Okay? Two. Okay, so thanks again. And we just want to let you know that like this, like what you just did, like it's also happening in like the Philippines, Brazil, Netherlands, France and the U.S. And so for the study to be successful, there's like one more thing that we asked if, you know, people like that would be good nominators. Like if you know someone who would know someone basically that would be like willing to like participate in the study, how you did. We would really appreciate that you could send me their contact information. We would just ask them for additional couples that might be interested in the study--

Speaker 2 [00:52:54] Gotcha.

Speaker 1 [00:52:06] Um. But yeah, that way we can like get a diverse like set of like answers. So yeah, we'll be contacting them after you provide any like contact information to us. And like if you can give them a heads up that like somebody will be contacting them from San Jose State, um but yeah that this if you know anyone that would know anyone, basically.

Speaker 2 [00:53:18] Okay, Gotcha, gotcha. All right.

Speaker 1 [00:53:22] And then I'll send out those like post interviews to you and [partner's name], and you guys could fill them out if you guys have time.

Speaker 2 [00:53:31] Okay. Sounds good.
